RESULTS OF SECOND PRIMARY

MANN AND SADLER DEFEATED O'DANIEL BACKED OPPONENTS

ALMOST RECORD SECOND-PRIMARY VOTE CAST IN STATE SATURDAY

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The "never-a-dull-moment" Texas electorate that stampeded Hillbilly W. Lee O'Daniel into the governor's office on his baptism in politics, stood off today and viewed its handiwork in a runoff primary which:

1.—Sent a 25-year-old political infant to the United States congress.

2.—Gently spanked O'Daniel by crushing two candidates in a slate he worked arduously to elect as his "lieutenants."

3.—Ousted new deal favorite W. D. McFarlane from his congressional post and substituted 35-year-old Ed Gossett, who had careered from oil filed roughneck, kitchenware salesman, magazine peddler, cotton picker and college politician to district attorney.

Some 900,000,000 voters, an almost record — equalling runoff number, gave youth a big inning in a mild revolt against a gubernatorial hero they set up only four weeks ago in a primary dedicated to the demise of "professional politicians."

Only 25 is Lindley Beckworth, the oratorical East Texan who beat a county jurge, Brady Gentry, for the house of representatives seat from District Three. The youngster who compaigned on a platfirm that promised healthier pensions for the aged, never missed a day's atendance at a regular and two special sessions of a state legislature to which he was elected in his political debut a few years ago. He promised allegiance to President Roosevelt's administration.

Mann Stages Fight.

Thirty-one years old and father of two children is Gerald Mann, who carried the fight that made him one of Southern Methodist University's legendary football heroes into an attorney-general's race that overwhelmed O'Daniel's potent support of his seasoned foe, Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul.

Said O'Daniel, after Mann's astonishing triumph:

"I admire a fighter."

Square-jawed Mann, former secretary of state, led the field with a vote total that touched nearly half a million.

Son of the soil, Jerry Sadler, a 30-year-old East Texan, was the other young man to upset O'Daniel's plans. He spilled the veteran C. V. Terrell, 78-year-old member of the important Texas railroad commission seeking re-election, by a heavy margin.

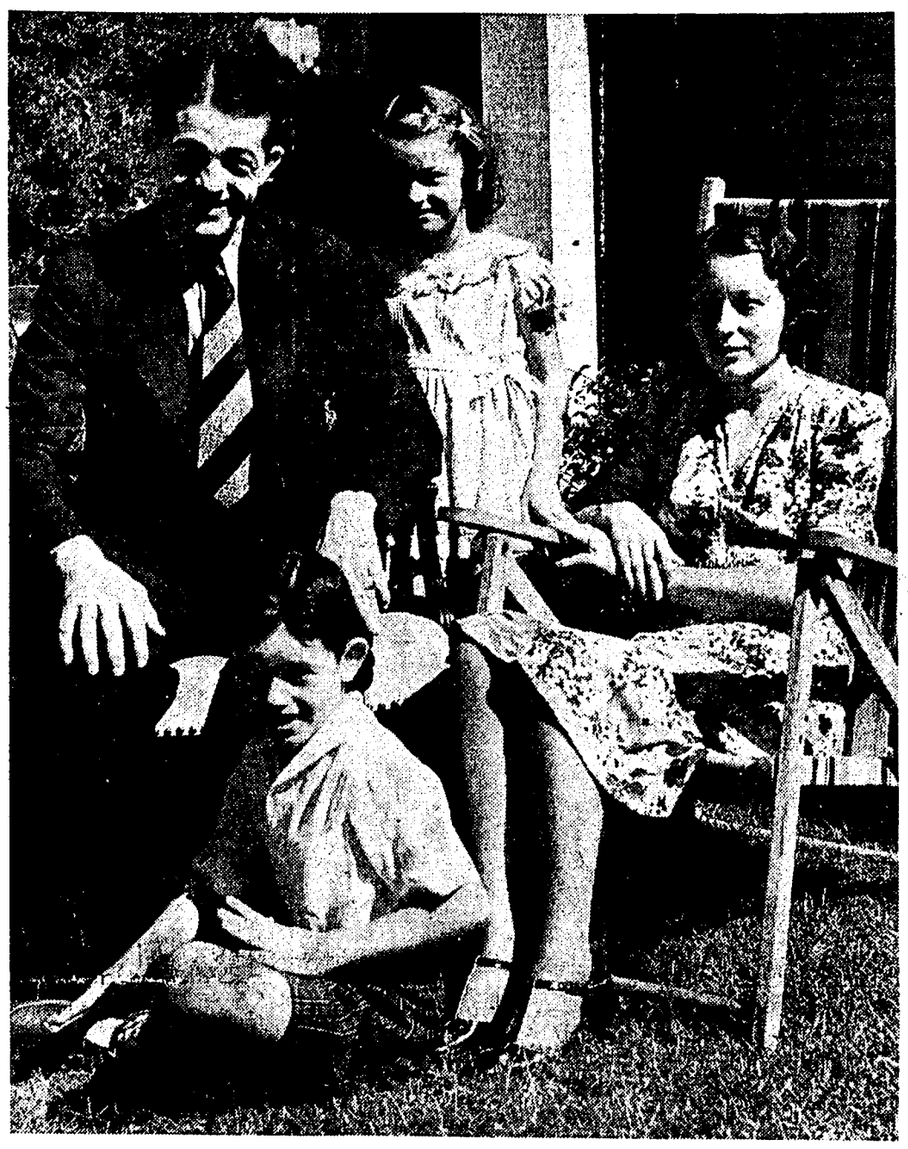

O'Daniel, flour man who intends to run his state government along business lines, described his first whirl in politics as "interesting," and noted the spectacular victories of the two unendorsed "Jerry's" with:

Can Do Great Things

"With those two fighters by my side, I feel that we can do great

THIS FAMILY WILL SOON MOVE TO AUSTIN

A typical young American family is that of Gerald C. Mann of Dallas, whose address will be Austin, Texas, in the near future. Gerald Mann waged a successful run-off campaign for attorney general in the primary election Saturday. Mrs. Mann is the former Miss Anna Mary Mars of Sulphur Springs. The children are Gerald, Jr., aged 8, and Lola, aged 6. The picture was taken at their Dallas home, near S. M. U., where Gerald Mann made an outstanding record in scholarship and athletics.

BREACH WIDENING BETWEEN LEWIS AND MARTIN OVER UAW

PRESIDENT MARTIN AND HIS UNION MAY SECEDE FROM LEWIS' C. I. O.

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The widening breach between Homer Martin and John L. Lewis presaged today the possibility that President Martin and his adherents in the United Automobile Workers might secede from the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The break between Martin and Lewis, CIO chairman, came into the open over the week-end when each side took a significant step.

The first was Lewis' dispatching to UAW locals a plea to support his proposals to restore harmony in the divided union; the second was the request of a group of regional UAW officers that the international executive board cease sending monthly per capita taxes of five cents to the CIO.

A regional conference of UAW local executives in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northern Illinois met in Milwaukee last night at Martin's call and, presided over by him, adopted a resolution condemning the Lewis letter and proposing discontinuance of dues payment to the CIO.

The scene at their meeting place was far from serene. Members of the Allis-Chalmers local, whose President was displaced by a Martin-appointed administrator, congregated outside and trie to keep Martin's followers from entering.

There were several physical clashes. The coat of Erwin Hansen, one of the pro-Martin delegates, was torn off and a cigarette was dropped into his pocket during a brush that occurred when Martin entered the meeting place, through a side door.

Allred Will Not Call Legislature In Oil Matters

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he would not call a special session of the legislature to create an oil and gas commission.

Reports such a session might be called originated at Dallas. One reported reason was claimed dissatisfaction with handling of confiscated oil by the attorney generals' department.

"I don't see any occasion," Allred said, "for a special session to create an oil and gas commission. "The railroad commission, which supervises oil and gas production, is elected by the people.

"I'm not dumb enough to think I could push such a proposal through the legislature at the end of my term."

The governor commented that "about the surest way to prevent overproduction of oil is to keep it from being transported either by confiscation or otherwise."

POLICE SEARCHING FOR ALLEGED DOCTOR IN TORSO SLAYINGS

STRANGE VISIT TO OFFICE IN CLEVELAND TOLD BY WATERFRONT WORKER

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Police searched today for a "doctor's office" in which a volunteer told them he was drugged and barely escaped being a victim of Cleveland's "torso slayer."

The queerest story thus far in the trail of 12 killings by a surgical maniac, came from Emil Fronek, Chicago waterfront worker, who formerly frequented the district in Cleveland where most of the butchered bodies have been found.

Detectives Peter Marylo brought Fronek here and reported his story as follows:

"The doctor invited me to come in and sit down. He said he would give me some shoes. He told me first he would give me something to eat. He brought out meat and potatoes and coffee.

"I was hungry but while I was eating I got sick. All I could see was the door. I jumped up and ran out.

CALIFORNIA AND SOUTH CAROLINA TO VOTE ON TUESDAY

DEMOCRATIC SENATORIAL PRIMARIES TWO STATES TO TEST ADMINISTRATION

By The Associated Press

Democratic senatorial primaries in South Carolina and California will bring a double test of administration strength tomorrow, for President Roosevelt has indicated his favorites in both contests.

Senator William G. McAdoo of California received President Roosevelt's endorsement last month. Mr. Roosevelt made it clear last night he preferred nomination of Gov. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina to a sixth term for Senator Ellison D. Smith, who has fought some administration measures.

Mr. Roosevelt issued a statement saying the withdrawal of a third candidate, Edgar A. Brown, clarified the issue. Without mentioning Smith and Johnston by name, he said:

"One of these candidates thinks in terms of the past and governs his actions accordingly. The other thinks in terms of 1938, and 1948 and 1958 as well."

Senator Smith replied he had supported more than 80 per cent of the President's program and would continue to back his policies "except when to do so will be in direct conflict with what I consider the best interests of South Carolina."

In California, Senator McAdoo is opposed by John W. Preston, who says he is "no rubber stamp"; Sheridan Downey, advocate of the Townsend pension program, and James W. Mellen, an avowed anti-new dealer.

Pensions Proposal.

Downey's proposal for a $20-a-week pension to Californians over 50 has been one of the major campaign issues. Mr. Roosevelt expressed his disapproval of the scheme last week, and McAdoo also opposes it.

Besides issuing his South Carolina statement, the President disclosed last night he would speak in Maryland on Labor Day, presumably in support of Rep. David J. Lewis, who is trying to unseat Senator Millard Tydings.

Mr. Roosevelt has advocated the defeat of Tydings, Senator Walter George of Georgia, and Rep. John O'Connor of New York. The latter won the support yesterday of the President's distant cousin, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, a republican.

Man And Girl Electrocuted In Swimming Pool

WHARTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A. W. Braun, 45, prominent resident of the Bonue community near here, and Bobby Colley, 15-year-old Eagle Lake girl, were electrocuted last night in the private swimming pool at the read of the Braun home.

Justice of the Peace George Kreuger of Glen Flora, who investigated the electrocutions, said he believed that a shortage in the wiring for lights around the pool, caused the water to become charged.

The Colley girl was the first to enter the pool and a few minutes later appeared to eb in trouble.

A guest at the home, a Mr. Matthews, leaped into the water to aid her. He cried to Mr. Braun:

"Don't come in. The water's charged."

Mr. Braun disregarded the warning and jumped in.

Braun reached for the supports of the diving board and his hand touched metal, completing the circuit. The charge killed him instantly.

FORMER HOTEL MAN IDENTIFIES HINES BEING WITH SCHULTZ

LATER ADMITS HE IS NOT SURE DURING CROSS-EXAMINATION BY DEFENSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A third witness for the state today pointed out Tammany District Leader James J. Hines as a man he saw with the late racket czar Dutch Schultz in a Bridgeport, Conn., hotel.

The witness, John Pucher, headwalter at the Stratford Hotel in Bridgeport, where the mob chieftain lived in the summer of 1935, looked directly at Hines in the courtroom at Hines' conspiracy trial and said:

"There he is. He was with Dutch Schultz."

The 61-year-old defendant, accused of serving as political "fixer" for the Schultz policy racket for a fee of $500 a week, narrowed his blue eyes and stared at the witness.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A state witness who swore he saw James J. Hines sitting at a coffee room table in Bridgeport, Conn., with the notorious racket czar, Dutch Schultz and group of Schultz mobsters, admitted later today under prolonged cross-examination that he "wasn't sure" about his identification of the Tammany district leader.

The witness, Charles W. Hughes of Gardner, Mass., former assistant manager of the Hotel Barnum in Bridgeport, also said he had been "reluctant" to come to New York to testify against Hines.

SERIOUS DISPUTE OVER RIGHT U. S. GUNBOAT REPORTED

COMMANDER OF MONOCACY ASSERTS RIGHTS TO SAIL YANGTZE RIVER

HONGKONG, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A serious dispute over the rights of a United States gunboat in China waters under Japanese control was reported today from Kiukiang, 135 miles down the Yangtze river from Hankow, by authoritative sources.

The dispute concerned the gunboat Monocacy, which was shaken and showered with water but not damaged by the explosion of the mines 80 yards from the gunboat's anchorage at Kiukiang on Saturday.

A protest by Commander C. V. Conlan, a reliable informant said, was rejected by the Japanese viceconsul, who in effect contended that foreign warships were in battle areas at their own risk.

Lieut. Conlan was understood to have countered that he was holding the Japanese responsible for any mishap resulting from Japanese operations, or from mine explosions, especially since the Nippon navy was sweeping the river continuously.

It was stated by the Kiukiang informant that the Monocacy had a coal supply for one week and food for two; that Japanese had offered both coal and food but the Monocacy refused the offer, maintaining a right to navigate the Yangtze freely, since Japanese transports and merchantmen were doing so.

Many Mines Explode.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Navy department dispatches disclosed today that for four days the U. S. gunboat Monocacy has been in the midst of exploding mines on the upper Yangtze river.

SAN FRANCISCO APPARENTLY HEADED FOR NEW INDUSTRIAL CRISIS AS 2,000 ALREADY IDLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—An industrial crisis affecting many businesses, and more all-embracing than any in San Francisco since the 1936 maritime strike, grew in gravity today.

More than 150 warehouses and liquor rectifying plants have been closed and additional ones were expected to shut their doors today in a "hot cargo" dispute between operators and CIO warehousemen. As a result of the distributing industry paralysis, more than 2,000 workers were idle.

As the warehouse industry situation took on grim aspects, a showdown neared in the threatened strike of AFL clerks in 27 major department stores; negotiations were broken off between the AFL Shoe and Textile Salesmen's union and operators of shoe and men's furnishing stores, involving the possibility of a strike; a crucial meeting of the AFL Grocery Clerks union with chain grocery stores was set for Tuesday.

In the background, also, was the possibility of a break between employers and CIO longshoremen over renewal of the waterfront contracts next month.

The warehouse dispute grew out of a strike weeks ago at the F. W. Woolworth company warehouse. A traveling freight car from the picketed Woolworth depot, loaded with school supplies, was trundled by a special switch engine from warehouse to warehouse, causing a tieup each place it stopped when warehousemen refused to unload the cargo.

CIO unionists said the car had been loaded by "strikebreakers," but employers denied this and said refusal of the workers to unload the car constituted insubordination.

SITUATION GROWS MORE TENSE OVER JITTERY EUROPE

BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S SUDDEN RETURN FROM BERLIN CREATES INTEREST

By JAMES B. RESTON

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The British ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, handed to Premier Chamberlain today a personal report on Berlin's present attitude and intentions in the increasingly dangerous Czechoslovak minorities dispute.

The ambassador's sudden return to London and a summons to cabinet ministers to meet here Tuesday were foremost in the crescendo of events over the week-end.

These steps were keyed to the fear that "conflict anywhere may be conflict everywhere," as the Times put it, and to the British policy to "contribute to control of events before they take charge of us."

Officials in Berlin privately already have shown dislike for Sir John's speech on Saturday, warning that conflict might be limited at the start but could spread like fire in a high wind.

Berlin disliked equally a foreign statement, appealing to "all quarters" to avoid anything which might "heighten the tension." German political circles saw this as a spur to Czechoslovakia to resist her Sudeten German minority's demands for autonomy.

Should Sir Neville report that he believes Chancellor Hitler is preparing for a quick war to aid the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans, in his self-assumed role of protector of Germans everywhere, political commentators here thought the cabinet likely would authorize a new, sharp warning.

May Make Situation Plain.

The cabinet might make plain in that event, some predicted, that Britain would fight.

But if Sir Nevile thinks that war is not in prospect, said the commentators, Premier Chamberlain might send only a personal message to the German Fuehrer asking him to preserve peace.

The British government, meanwhile, pursued its mediation efforts in Czechoslovakia itself through Viscount Runciman, who talked for two hours on Sunday with the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein.

Whether Henlein and Runciman approached any understanding was not known publicly, but the Czechoslovak government, which already has served notice it will fight if necessary to defend itself indicated its newest concessions were on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

Full details were not announced, but apparently the offer to the Sudeten Germans was for a system of dividing the republic into

AMARILLO ATTORNEY FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN SOCORRO HOTEL

JAMES O. GULEKE HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH FOR SOME MONTHS

SOCORRO, N. M., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A man identified through personal papers as James O. Guleke, 47, district attorney of Amarillo, Texas, was found shot to death in a hotel room here early today, and a coroner's jury held he had committed suicide.

The body was found at 7 a. m. by friends who sought to awaken him and, receiving no response, broke down the room door, locked from the inside. The forehand was pierced by a revolver bullet. Dr. V. E. Franklin said Guleke had been dead since about 6 a. m.

Sheriff Frank Knoblock said there was no indication of the motive for the act, but added he had learned Guleke left Amarillo recently on a trip to recuperate from a nervous breakdown. He checked into the hotel here last night.

Guleke was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lou Smith of Amarillo. They remained in seclusion at the hotel.

Been In Ill Health.

AMARILLO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—James O. Guleke, who was found shot to death in a Socorro, N. M., hotel room today, was a prominent Amarillo attorney, a Mason and a Shriner.

He had suffered ill health for the past several months.

Guleke and two friends, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Smith of Amarillo, had gone to New Mexico on a fishing trip Friday. Smith said they spent Saturday and Saturday night at a lake and drove to Soroco yesterday with the intention of returning to Amarillo today.

Guleke was a member of one of the leading law firms of Amarillo, Stone & Guleke. He was a former member of the state board of education.

Two Sets Father-Son Sheriffs For Navarro County

An unusual circumstance is recorded following the results of the sheriff's run-off election Saturday when C. O. (Cap) Curington defeated Rufus Pevehouse, incumbent, and a perusal of the records reveal that history is repeating itself. Both the contestants in Saturday's balloting are the sons of former sheriffs of Navarro county.

W. L. Pevehouse, father of the present sheriff, served as the chief law-enforcement officer of Navarro county from 1912 until 1916 and was succeeded by the late John R. Curington who was sheriff from 1916 to 1920. The late John R. Curington after serving as sheriff, deputy sheriff and deputy district clerk, was admitted to the bar and was serving his second term as criminal district attorney at the time of his death last year.

Walter Hayes, chief deputy sheriff under Pevehouse during his ten-year tenure in office, succeeded Curington as sheriff in 1920. The present sheriff was a deputy under Hayes.

John Curington followed Walter Pevehouse in office as sheriff and his son is following the elder Pevehouse's son as sheriff.

MAROONED TEXAS FISHERMEN SIGHTED ON FOURTH PASS

FEAR HAD BEEN EXPRESSED FOR SAFETY MEN ON ISLANDS OFF COAST

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS.

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A Pan-American Airlines pilot radioed here today he had sighted two automobiles and several men on Fourth Pass off the Mexican coast, near where 10 Texans were marooned yesterday by a hurricane.

The men were running around the island waving sheets at his plane, the pilot said. The plane continued on to Tampico without making an attempt to land. The pilot did not mention the number of men sighted on the island in his radio message.

Les Mauldin, aviator, planned to take off after lunch for the sand dune area in search of the missing men.

Mauldin said he would fly over the sand dunes off the northeastern Mexican coast. He will radio any information he picks up concerning the party.

A Pan-American Airlines ship which took off from Tampico on a regular commercial flight also will pass over the territory where the storm swept inland yesterday.

Meanwhile, the lower Rio Grande Valley was threatened by rising waters in the Rio Grande. Heavy rains which followed the hurricane sent the Jan Juan and Catarina rivers in Mexico, tributaries of the Ro Grande, on rampages, and caused the international stream to rise 14 feet at Rio Grande City, 100 miles west of here.

New Flood Stage.

The weather bureau here predicted the Rio Grande would reach near flood stage at Mercedes and flood stage or higher

O'DANIEL DENIES HE HAS PLANS FOR BUILDING MACHINE

PEOPLE WILL DETERMINE WHETHER HE WILL BE CANDIDATE AGAIN

FORT WORTH, Aug. 29.—(AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, governor-nominate, said today he will not use his administration to build a machine to perpetuate himself in public office.

He declared he will go "into office "with blood in my eyes" to do what the people have said they want done, "and let the chips fall where they may."

O'Daniel announced he was discontinuing his daily press conferences, effective today because his study of governmental conditions "is of no interest to the people until I have reached definite conclusions." He will hold a press conference each Monday morning in the future, he said.

He said he wanted the office of governor because of the honor attached to it.

"And there's just as much honor in being governor two years as being governor four years," he said. "Whether I will be a candidates two years from now is for the people themselves to decide. That's right from the heart; I really mean it."

O'Daniel said he has given no thought to recommending to the legislature the creation of a separate oil and gas commission. Some of his close advisors are advocating such a move, and may ask the state democratic convention in Beaumont Sept. 13 to indorse such a plank.

CURINGTON NAMED SHERIFF; CALDWELL IS DISTRICT CLERK

O'DANIEL WON THREE AND LOST THREE IN NAVARRO COUNTY VOTING

Complete unofficial returns from the forty-eight precincts in Navarro county had been received at the Corsicana Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Morning Light office Saturday night at 8:40 o'clock. The first box was reported at 7:03 p. m., only three minutes after the polls closed. Eldorado was the first to be reported, followed one minute later by Navarro. Forty boxes had been heard from at 8 p. m.

Voters of Navarro county selected men who were not holding offices in all races in the run-off democratic primary election.

High Vote Sheriff's Race.

More votes were cast in the sheriff's campaign than in any other race. There were a total of 8,937 cast. C. O. (Cap) Curington won the nomination when he polled 4,652 as compared with 4,285 received by Rufus Pevehouse, who was seeking his sixth term. Curington's margin was 357 votes, the closest contest in the county outside precinct run-offs. There were 9,551 votes polled in the first primary, July 23.

R. A. (Arthur) Caldwell outdistanced Lonnie L. Powell, 5,238 to 3,625 for district clerk. Powell is the present county clerk.

E. B. (Bud) Burleson gained the nomination as county treasurer over Hayden Paschall, incumbent, by a margin of 558 Votes. Burleson polled 4,705 to 4,147.

James E. (Jim) Taylor, Kerens mayor and newspaper publisher, outdistanced J. J. Kelt, Chatfield, incumbent, for the nomination as representative in the Legislature from the 58th district composed of Navarro county. Taylor was selected by 4,973 as compared with 3,792, a difference of 1,181.

P. H. (Pat) Geraughty defeated W. T. McFadden, incumbent, as justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 2, 2,395 to 1,866, a margin of 529.

C. M. Fitzgerald of Rice defeated J. O. Sessions of Bazette, incumbent, as commissioner of precinct 2 by 111 margin Fitzgerald polled 1,000 votes to 889 for Sessions.

C. A. Steele won the justice of the peace, precinct 6, nomination over the incumbent, C. Healer, 300 to 205.

Mann Carries County.

Gerald C. Mann, Dallas attorney, formerly star football player with Southern Methodist University, Dallas, and later assistant attorney general and secretary of state, polled the largest number of votes in Navarro county when he received 5,613, despite the nod for Walter Woodul of Houston, lieutenant governor, by W. Lee O'Daniel, gubernatorial designate in the first primary election five weeks ago. Woodul received 3,196.

Navarro county voters favored three of O'Daniel's choices and turned against a like number.

Pierce Brooks received 4,768, a margin of 804 votes over Coke

CHINESE DECLARE JAP OFFENSIVE IS BEING DEFEATED

RECAPTURE OF THREE IMPORTANT TOWNS ON NORTH BAND YANGTZE RIVER

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Chinese asserted today they had cracked the Japanese offensive on the north bank of the upper Yangtze river, recapturing three important towns the invaders won in six weeks of bloody fighting.

The towns were Tsienshan, Taihu and Sushung, north of Kiukiang and about 135 miles downriver from Hankow, China's provisional capital.

The Chinese also said they had cut off Japanese advance forces at Hwankmei, spearhead of the Japanese drive up the north bank, and now were attacking the town.

The Japanese, on the other hand, reported they were advancing on the Peiping-Hankow Railway after having captured Liuan and Sukiafew, near the Tonan-Anhwei border about 100 miles north of the Hwangmei sector.

Severe fighting, but no major changes, was reported on other fronts.

One of the most significant movents on the south bank appeared to be a Japanese drive against Matow just above Chinese fortifications and booms between Wusueh and Tienkiachen.

The Japanese were reported advancing three columns along the Yangtze and along the highway from Juichang toward the Yangsin river in an effort to outflank the Chinese at Matow, which is about 25 miles upstream from Kiukiang.

ELECTION

Stevenson's 3,964. Stevenson was the O'Daniel favorite for the lieutenant governorship.

Richard Critz, favored by O'Daniel, received 5,384 to 3,262 for W. H. Davidson for associate justice of the supreme court, a margin of 2,132.

Harry N. Graves, O'Daniel choice, led James A. Stevens, 671 votes. Graves polled 4,610 to 3,939, for Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

J. A. (Jerry) Sadler outran C. V. Terrell, incumbent, and picked by O'Daniel, 5,016 to 3,808 a margin of 1,208 for state railroad commissioner.

Bascom Giles, O'Daniel pick, led Wm. H. McDonald, 4,893 to 3,781, a difference of 1,112 for commissioner of the general land office.

Spart Berry was elected precinct chairman for Dawson over C. M. Farmer, 251 to 121.

Large Crowd Heard Returns.

A large crowd was present at the Sun office Saturday night to receive the election returns flashed on the screen and announced over the loud-speaker arrangement. The street in front of the newspaper office was roped off and thousands attended the election party.

The returns from the state races were received over a specially-leased wire from the Texas Election Bureau and were augmented by frequent bulletins and flashes from The Associated Press.

The Navarro County Democratic Executive Committee will meet at the court house Saturday morning for the purpose of canvassing and declaring the official returns from the run-off primary election.

The crowd attending the election party was perhaps the most orderly in years. Cheers were heard frequently when reports pleasing to them were announced, but for the most part the citizens did not make an appreciable demonstration as the returns came in. They were interested, however, as was shown by the large crowd on hand for the returns.

Mann Carries 44 Boxes.

Gerald Mann carried 44 of the 48 precincts in Navarro county, losing only Rodney, Angus, White's Chapel and Mildred.

Cap Curington carried 31 boxes, one was a tie and Pevehouse carried 16. Curington was high in all city wards except 1 and carried Corsicana by 413 votes. Pevehouse finished 56 ahead in the outside precincts.

James Taylor and Bud Burleson, successful candidates for representative and county treasurer, respectively, carried 25 boxes each.

Arthur Caldwell, winner for district clerk, was high in 28 of the 48 boxes.

Pat Geraughty, successful in the run-off as justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 2, carried 14 of the 16 boxes in precinct 1 over Judge McFadden. McFadden was high in Wards 1 and 2.

Caldwell carried the city by 897 votes, winning in all wards except No. 1. Jim Taylor carried all four city boxes with 1,681 as compared with 1,120 for Kelt, a margin of 561 votes.

Bud Burleson, winner as county treasurer, failed to carry Corsicana. Hayden Paschall, incumbent, carried three boxes, all except Ward 1, and polled 1,564 as compared with 1,344 for Burleson.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING TEXAS UNIVERSITY CO-EDS IN YEAR OF 1900 CONSIDERED CURIOSITIES

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Regulations governing University of Texas co-eds in 1900 when Mrs. Helen Marr Kirby was the first dean of women, are curiosities today.

School officials recently found a leaflet outlining restrictions then applicable to women students which said, among other things:

"Sunday excursions, dining unchaperoned at hotels or restaurants, and riding in buggies are altogether objectionable. Sitting on steps and lingering about gates with escorts is discontenanced by refined society and should be avoided by university girls."

Such activities today are left entirely to the discretion of women students themselves. They enjoy many liberties not accorded in 1900, demonstrating, some say, the advancement of co-education.

In an introductory paragraph, the yellowed pamphlet asked the university girls by their conduct "to help establish the success of co-education."

A father and four small children in a shiny new automobile hailed Highway Patrolman John Lowry near Henrietta in North Texas.

The man clasped the officer's hand and the children hugged him.

Then Lowry recaled it was the family he had met on the same road a year and a half ago. At that time they were hungry, without funds, raggedly dressed and had no gas for their dilapidated car.

Lowry managed to arrange for some supplies and sent them on their way.

Immediately thereafter their luck changed, bringing them a home, clothing, food and a new car, they told Lowry at the second meeting.

Dust bowl farmers harvesting their first wheat crop in several years have been warned not to burn the stubble.

"That's probably the worst thing a farmer could do and is likely to prove costly," said R. R. Hinde, agronomist of the U. S. soil conservation service in the wind erosion region.

"Stubble is one of the most important factors in protecting the soil from blowing and when it is destroyed the earth naturally has less protection from wind erosion," he says.

Hinde attributes some of the worst examples of "blowing" directly to the practice of burning stubble and reminded farmers dust storms result from improper handling of crop stubble and misuse of tillage machines in preparing seed beds for fall wheat planting.

The agronomist said the one-way disk or wheat land plow, about which farmers have disagreed, has been found efficient and should be used in the first operation of seed bed preparation because it cuts and mixes the wheat stubble in the surface soil.

He pointed out however, the one-way disk could be used to excess in pulverizing the soil and destroying the stubble.

Implement manufact u r e r s, Hinde says, have been quick to respond to the demand of farmers for special tillage machines to be used in connection with seed bed preparation. Waffle machines to be used with the one- way disk have been placed on the market along with damming listers and rotary dammers.

Working of seed beds during the summer to destroy weeds and at the same time maintain a cloddy surface with the wheat stubble mixed in the soil can be done efficiently with a field cultivator, Hinde says.

The agronomist said chiseling machines, listers and damming machines were being used with success throughout the plains region.

ALLEGED ATTEMPTS AT INTIMIDATION IN KIDNAP CASE

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Five alleged attempts to intimidate state witnesses or investigators in the kidnaping of a former coast guard officer were under investigation today by authorities, who held a socially prominent physician as instigator of the abduction.

The victim, Irving Baker, 37, remained at his home today convalescing from injuries inflicted 10 days ago when he was carried from his home, beaten, and torn with a pair of pliers.

Prosecutor Smith Troy, who ordered kidnaping and assault charges filed against Dr. Kent W. Berry, 50, and three other men, said the attack grew out of Baker's alleged attentions to the doctor's attractive young wife.

Baker, whose accused assailants face arraignment today, denied he was involved in any misconduct with Mrs. Berry, the physician's fourth wife.

The intimidatfon attempts were listed by Troy as:

Death threats against Ted, 12, and Janet, 6, Baker's children, unless he "forgot" the charges against Dr. Berry. The threats were contained in a letter affixed to a stone and hurled through a window into the Baker home Saturday.

A telephoned death threat to a state detective to "lay off" the investigation.

An attempt to wreck the car of Lieut. Beal Messinger, of the Olympia police.

Accused with Dr. Berry, are James Reddick, 27, taxi driver; Robert Smith, 32, dairyman, and William K. McAloon, former town marshal, all charged with kidnaping and first degree assault; and Harold Schars, taxi company owner, charged as an accessory after the fact.

ATTENDANCE GOOD SUNDAY UPON FULL GOSPEL SERVICES

The attendance was very good at all of the services Sunday at the Full Gospel church. An overflow crowd was present on Sunday night. The Rev. B. H. Schleifer, lecturer from Buffalo, N. Y., brought a very inspiring, as well as soul-stirring, massage on Sunday morning, then on Sunday night the Rev. Schliefer showed his first set of sixty slides and gave the lecture, 'Church Events in the Light of Bibe Prophecy." It was sad indeed to see the plight of the Christian churches today, yet all were made to realize it is only a sure sign of His soon return.

The Rev. Mr. Schleifer will show the second group on Monday night showing "World Events," the place the powers in Europe are holding today and how they have rejected God's mercy. We urge you to be present. Another will be shown on Tuesday night. We urge you to come early for a seat. You are welcome. Reporter.

ELEVEN ADDITIONS NORTHSIDE BAPTIST CHURCH ON SUNDAY

Two large crowds were in attendance upon both morning and evening preaching services at the North Side Baptist church Sunday.

Using as his text I. Sam. 10:26-27 "And Saul also went home to Gileah; and there went with him a band of men whose hearts God had travailed. But children of Beliah said, How shall this man save us? They despised him, and brought him no presents. But he held his peace."

Rev. Mr. Goff delivered a forceful message to the church members on the subject, "What Class Are You In?" He said that there are two classes of people to be found in the majority of the churches today. The ones whose heart God has touched. These are they who are always willing to follow the leader and work together in one mind and with one accord in advancing God's kingdom's work.

He stated that the other class as represented by the sons of Beliah are the group who stand back and do nothing themselves toward the advancing of the kingdom's work and criticize and rebuke those who try to do. That they are disloyal and inconsistent in their living.

Rev. Mr. Goff appealed to his members for their whole-hearted support and co-operation in building a great church of the North Side. The entire membership walked down the aisles and shook hands with their pastor, pledging their co-operation.

At the evening service a great crowd was present and a great spirit prevailed as Rev. Mr. Goff delivered an inspiring message on "Man's Long Home," text Ecc. 12:5. He said in part, first, that man's long home is eternal; second, it is sinless; third, it is sorrowless; fourth, it is a place of eternal happiness. He appealed to men in this message to turn away from their sins and start now for the sorrowless city of God.

There were 11 additions to the church during the day an increase in attendance in both Sunday school and B. T. U.—Reporter.

GERMAN OFFICIAL DENIES EFFORTS TO DESTROY CHURCH

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A propaganda ministry spokesman today branded as "nonesense" charges made by Germany's Roman Catholic hierarchy in a pastoral letter that efforts were being made in Germany to destroy the church.

"The government is paying millions of marks annually to the church and the fact that the reading of the letter was possible clearly demonstrates that there can be no talk about persecution," he said.

Answering the bishops' charge that "unparalleled, ugly, concentric attacks and outrages" were used against Bishop Johann Sproll who was expelled from Wurttemberg last Thursday, the spokesman said the nazis had acted solely to protect the bishop.

"Sproll, who was a German citizen, violated one of the fundamental principles of German citizenship by not participating in the April 10 plebiscite (on union of Austria with Germany)," he declared.

"This naturally led to demonstrations against the bishop."

Three Charged In Selling of Beer On Election Day

Three persons were named in complaints filed in the county court for alleged selling of beer during election hours Saturday while the run-off primary election was in progress. The complaints were accepted by J. C. Roe, assistant criminal district attorney.

MINE WORKERS AND HARLAN OPERATORS SIGN AGREEMENT

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 29.—(AP)—An agreement between the United Mine Workers of America and the Harlan County Coal Operators' Association bore today the approval of union members and the distaste of William Green.

The A. F. of L. president termed the agreement a "brazen and unlawful alliance" and said a complaint would be filed with the national labor relations board, which he charged with a part in a "conspiracy" to violate the Wagner act or its reported sanction of the contract.

At a meeting yesterday 111 delegates from 37 U. M. W. locals in this area ratified the agreement which was signed by attorneys for the CIO union and the operators' association at Cincinnati Saturday.

Philip G. Phillips, regional labor board director, said at Cincinnati "For the frst time in their existence Harlan county workers may join an union to which they want to clong." He said the agreement did not call for a closed shop.

The pact provided that the laboboard will "dismiss finally" U. M. W. charges of unfair labor practices against the operators.

Green said the union members' approval of the contract "means nothing," adding his opinion that few Harlan miners belonged to the U. M. W. district.

Sharp Lewis Comment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, said today that William Green's attack on the agreement made by the Harlan County Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers was "characteristic of what might be expected from any traitorous renegade."

Green, A. F. of L. president, called the agreement a "brazen and unlawful alliance."

"Obviously Green's statement that he has information on this subject is a lie uttered by a pusillanimous ingrate," Lewis added.

POLITICS

Mr. Roosevelt will go to Maryland Sunday to inspect the site of a proposed Potomac river bridge at Morgantown, and the next day he will speak at Denton, Md., the home town of Rep. Alan Goldsborough. Denton is on the eastern shore, which some politicians have called a Tydings stronghold.

Tydings' colleague, Senator George Radcliffe, spoke in his behalf last night. Radcliffe, who has been regarded as a Roosevelt supporter, said: "The democrats of Maryland are accustomed to select their own standard bearers. x x x that right we will not surrender to anyone."

Connecticut Democrats.

Connecticut democrats today were choosing delegates who will select their senatorial nominee at a convention next month. Senator Augustine Lonergan, critic of some Roosevelt policies, is opposed by Rep. Herman P. Kopplemann and Archibald McNeil, former national committeeman. Both the latter are new dealers.

While democrats in several states were arguing over primary contests, republican leaders of the midwest were completing plans for their fall campaign. A "cornfield conference' Saturday near Washington, Ind., heard Republican Chairman John Hamilton call the party's program "a mighty fight to save the Untied States."

In Washington, the republican national committee declared that Mr. Roosevelt had reduced the merit system in government to a "mere subterfuge to cover the greatest spoils grab in our history."

When he took office, its statement said, more than 82 per cent of federal employes were under civil service. It added that only 65 per cent were so classed at the start of 1938.

Pope Visits Washington.

LOYALIST TROOPS MEETING SUCCESS IN COUNTER DRIVE

HENDAYE, France—(At the Spanish Frontier)—Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Spanish government reported today that General Jose Asensio's southern army had driven within less than a mile of Castuera, insurgent base on the Estremadura front.

The militiamen were said to have cut the trunk line railroad running from Castuera to Cabeza Del Buey, 20 miles to the east, and to be threatening to cut insurgent advance units leading the drive on the rich Almaden mercury mines.

Government reports said General Asensio's troops had gained nearly 15 miles since they started their counter-offensive to protect the Almaden mines ten days ago and had recaptured virtually all the territory between the Zujar river an dthe railroad lost August 1.

Pershing Urges Leaders Industry Prepare For War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing suggested today that leaders of industry, with an eye to a possible future conflict involving this country, prepare to pass on to their successors the knowledge they acquired in the World War.

"Without some very definite agreement, we must never again be caught so completely unprepared, and we must remember that any large war will again draw upon all our resources," the World War commander said in a review of 1917-18 mobilization difficulties.

General Pershing, now in France, sent this statement on "Industry and the A. E. F." for the seventy-fifth anniversary issue of the Army and Navy Journal.

General Pershing wrote: "Looking back upon the war, the requirements for a future contingency can now be pretty well foreseen.

"They include the establishment of plants for manufacturing all sorts of ammunition, and the procurement of the necessary material. We must have x x x practically every commodity which, by the nature of our every day business, Americans are now engaged in manufacturing or distributing."

"And, above all, ships under the American flag are needed to carry both the troops and supplies for the armies and supplies for the navy."

TORSOS

"The doctor said 'Wait a minute, wait a minute. Lets have some more to drink.' But I kept going until I crawled in an empty box car."

Fronek said he remembered nothing until three days later when he was aroused by transients who thought he had been drunk.

"I went back to find the doctor to fix him, but I couldn't find him," Fronek said.

Detectives took Fronek on a tour of the probable location of the office. He saw a church he remembered and narrowed the search down to a five-block area.

He told of meeting another man in a hobo camp here whose body was scarred and who told of a similar experience.

"He talked too crazy for me to believe him," Fronek said.

WAR DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL ADVOCATES ARMING FOR DEFENSE

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A policy of armament for defense in order that the nation may be free to prfomote the ideals of Americanism was advocated by Louis A. Johnson, assistant secretary of war, in an address before the Texas American Legion here today.

"Unfortunately, the world of realities indicates quite clearly that not all nations are as eager as we are to cultivate friendship and understanding," Johnson said.

'So long as some members of the family of nations make force and threat of force their national nollicies, we must stand on guard.

"Strongly armed, we are free to promote the ideals of Americanism and to protect our people and our government, both against boring from within and against attack from without."

The secretary said one of the tenets of Americans is a desire for peace. He added this nation has made every effort to cultivate patience and self-restraint in dealing with its neighbors but reports of strife, dissension and open battle throughout the world were signals for the United States to keep on guard.

"We must be ready, but mark you, not for offense, but for defense, not for aggression, but for protection, not to wage war, but to keep out of war" he added.

Johnson spoke on Americanism, which he said was best defined in three precepts of the Declaration of Independence—equality, inalienable rights and the existence of government to secure these rights.

He expressed the opinion Americans, regardless of birth, have attained equality before the law but this generation must achieve "that degree of equality of opportunity in the economic field that our forefathers were able to accomplish for their generation and for us in the realm of law."

In the realm of inalienable rights Americans are probably the most fortunate of peoples, Johnson said.

"We are more secure in our property, more protected in our lives and more happy in our outlook toward the future than the inhabitants of any other nation in the world," he declared.

BAPTIST REVIVAL ATTRACTS LARGE CROWDS ON SUNDAY

Large crowds were in attendance upon all services at the First Baptist tent revival yesterday. At the Sunday school hour Rev. E. T. Miller spoke on "When Jesus Comes." Matt. 25:31-32. He said that when Jesus comes again He will come in all of His glory; that when He comes again He will not come alone, but will bring all of the angels with him; that when He comes again He will separate the good from the bad. He closed by saying, "If Jesus comes to your heart today, do not turn Him away." Several intermediates and juniors gave their hearts to Christ. At the 11 o'clock hour, Rev. Mr. Miller brought a splendid message on "Back to Bethel," which was introduced by a trio, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Godfrey and Emma Jean Godfrey singing "Back to Bethel." Rev. Mr. Miller said that the people could let Abraham teach them how to go gack to Bethel by studying his life of Christian obedience, his life of consecration, and by correcting their mistakes. Two joined the church by letter at the close of this service.

A musical program was presented in B. T. U. last evening. Miss Jewell Taylor played a piano solo, "Living for Jesus" and "The Rosary." Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey and Emma Jean sang "Who at the Door is Standing," followed by Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey singing "How Long Must We Wait?" Misses Evelyn and Aileen Daniel played a Hawaiian guitar duo, "He Lives on High." Mrs. J. R. Howell sang "Win Them One by One." Mrs. L. F. McPherson, Mrs. Carl Parsons and Miss Verline Taylor sang "The Hills of Home" eKith Crowley sang "Have You Counted the Cost?" and "The Nail Scarred Hand." He was accompanied by Mrs. Terry Sutton. Immediately after this program the prayer groups assembled with 134 in attendance.

Last evening Mr. Miller preached on "The Footmen of Time and the Horses of Eternity," Jer. 12:5 and Rev. 6:1-8. Five joined the church for baptism at the close of this service. Miss Ruth Brown played a violin solo as the offertory. Keith Crowley sang "Have You Counted the Cost?" as the special selection.

The prayer groups meet each evening at 7:40. The Sunday school teachers are urged to be in the group especially for them 100 per cent. The preaching service begins at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Miller will preach on "God's Telegram to Man." There were no services this morning, but all the juniors are urged to be present at the tent in the morning at 9:15. The preaching service is held at 10 o'clock.

Everyone in Corsicana is invited to attend the services at the tent.

Thanks

Words fail me in trying to express my thanks to those friends who supported me so loyally throughout my campaign for re-election. I claim no credit for courage displayed in the face of inevitable defeat which was determined upon when I took the position I did against gambling and the political bosses who are determined to rule or ruin. No man with any character at all would have quit with the encouragement you gave me.

I shall forever cherish the memory of the tribute paid me by that grand patriarch, Frank Drane, which shall inspire me the rest of my days. I wish for you, my dear friend, is that you may continue to enjoy good health until you have completed the dream of your life—that is your charity foundation.

Now let us get behind our new representative and give him our undivided support in his efforts to give us a capable, efficient administration and encourage him to keep our state free of licensed gambling.

SHOPPING ETHICS

Writing in his New Republic, Bruce Bliven presents the viewpoint of an experienced and well educated saleswoman and tells some plain facts about the way women abuse shopping privileges.

Many of them, particularly well-to-do women, are described as having expensive goods sent to their homes on approval, and then sending them back after considerable use, much deteriorated in value. Also as making unnecessary trouble and expense for stores by insisting on the delivery of all sorts of small articles that they could easily carry home themselves.

This is bad morals and bad business. It abuses the privileges granted by the stores and it adds to the cost of the goods bought by other patrons asking no such privileges.

There is, however, a big saving fact revealed in this article. The young people are not guilty of such practices. Daughters of inconsiderate women "buy like men" and stick to their bargain. That should make things better all around in the long run.

PARTY PURGES

The full significance of President Roosevelt's so-called "party purge" may be overlooked because of the general preoccupation with mere partisan issues and "practical politics." As some history-minded interpreters see it, this presidential drive is not merely an effort to corral a sure-fire majority to put through his immediate program for the next two years, but a deliberate effort to accomplish a more definite party cleavage.

It has long been obvious to students of American politics that the two major parties, in this generation, are not aligned in a clean-cut way for two opposite sets of political principles. They both consist of miscellaneous groups, held together by name and tradition rather than basic ideals. This has been true at least since the time of McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. New issues arise and old issues change their forms and names; but people, especially in this country, tend to vote as their fathers and grandfathers voted, and stick to names even when the names no longer fit realities.

"Liberal" and "conservative" are by no means definite terms, yet they seem to have more intrinsic meaning today in America, as they have long had in England and Canada, than some of the traditional terms we use. It looks to many observers as if Franklin Roosevelt, present head of one party, even while concentrated on many local and transient issues, is ambitious to simplify things by bidding for Republican liberals and driving Democratic conservatives into the other party.

If this is the case, and if he continues forcing the battle wherever justification or excuse appears, the country is at least due for another lively couple of years. Especially if Republicans accept the challenge.

An effort is being made to "integrate" public utilities. Integration or integrity, whichever you want to call it, is a good thing anywhere.

Divine providence—rather than human—seems to take care of this country. Rain is making the "dust bowl" a cereal bowl again.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

WHAT A BABY BRINGS.

These are what a baby brings:
Endless tasks, of making things;
Endless running up the stairs,
Endless worries, frets and cares
And, to keep the balance right.
Endless sources of delight.

With a baby's small affairs
Come innumerable scares.
Fear of fever; fair of pain
Come in every baby's train.
But, to keep the balance true,
Babies bring enchantments, too.

These are what a baby brings:
Endless trying happenings,
Anxious days and nights of dread,
Watching at its little bed,
But it brings a glorious smile,
Just to make all this worth while.

MEN AND NATIONS

Secretary Hull's Seven Points fundamental to the preservation of peace boil down to this: That a nation should be a good citizen in the community of nations as a man is in his own community.

What does a good citizen do? On the individual side, a man attends to his own business with diligence and honor. He keeps his word. His home is orderly and friendly. On the communal side, he trades cheerfully and honestly with his neighbor; he respects his neighbor's private and family affairs. He neither meddles nor bristles. Live and let live is his motto. He gives his counsel and casts his vote for the good of his town. He does what he can to help it, and everyone in it, to prosper. He keeps his own peace and helps his neighbors and his neighborhood to keep theirs. He does not have to bluster because his mentality is sound and his conscience clear.

A curiously immoral doctrine has been floating around the world for a good many centuries—the belief that The State could justifiably do what would be wrong for an individual. This belief is one of the most deeply rooted causes for war. It is about time the world threw it away. Men singly and men in groups are the same men, subject to the same eternal principles.

GREEN DUST BOWL.

It snowed last winter on the great, semi-arid plains west of the Mississippi that were lately going up in dust and blowing millions of tons of topsoil over the eastern states. And in the spring there were plentiful rains. So a miracle happened.

The topsoil was not all gone. Farmers sowed again, and the seed grew, and those upland plains are green once more.

True, the rains stopped in July, and some have feared that a new drought was developing. But the grass and grain so far have not been killed and the current weather cycle, supposed to be produced by sunspots, gives hope of a moist period lasting perhaps for several years.

So pessimistic prophecies are defeated. But the warning remains. Nature can be pushed just so far. The "dry farmers" may be careful hereafter to deal more gently with that sensitive soil, plowing less of it and leaving more in grass that will hold the surface together.

PRIVILEGE OF YOUTH.

Premier Mussolini, after a few weeks of comparative silence, sets the war dogs barking again. Addressing his troops at the close of army maneuvers, he says:

"While guns are roaring in so many parts of the world, to harbor illusions would be folly, and not to prepare would be a crime. We do not delude ourselves, and are preparing."

That would be all right, and is what many free nations are doing; but unfortunately he adds:

"The new fascist youth, the youth that has conquered the Italian Empire, has only one ambition and is jealous of only one privilege—to bear arms in defense of its country."

Youth in America and other democratic lands is willing to fight for its country, too, but has many ambitions, of which warfare is a minor part. Our youth is more ambitious to labor for peace and to serve in peaceful pursuits.

IT JUST ISN'T CRICKET!

PLENTY OF FOLKLORE

The Irish Folklore Commission has a job on its hands. Appointed 12 years ago to collect the legends and fairy lore of the island, under Sean O'Sullivan, it has already gathered more than a million tales and is finding new ones every day.

The job is literally endless. The trouble is that the Irish people are not content, like most races, with the store of legends and doings of the "wee people" in former times. They still believe in fairies and have so much inventive imagination they go right on producing folklore.

It will occur to Americans that one of the most recently famous sons of Ireland, Douglas Corrigan, has done his bit in this field. He was qualified for it by heritage and character. He has talked with fairies and kissed the Blarney Stone, and now he himself is becoming an Irish legend.

MATRIMONIAL RESERVOIR

Marriages closely follow the curve of business failures and prosperity, reports the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, after a study covering 70 years. The marriage rate and business conditions tally.

This, as the report suggests, is a perfectly reasonable thing. In bad times people are afraid or unable to marry, so that in depression years there accumulates a surplus of marriageable men and women. This surplus forms a "reservoir" from which numerous marriages are drawn as business improves. The process applies to many other social reactions, but is probably more definite regarding marriage than in any other way.

Thus, it may be assumed, if anyone wants a simple and easy way to recognize returning prosperity, all he has to do is to watch the wedding curve.

MEN TEACHERS.

The original American pedagogue was usually a man. Then for a long time the public schools came under the sway of women, except for the higher executive jobs. Women have almost monopolized teaching in the lower grades and have greatly out numbered the men in high schools. But the tide begins to turn. From recent figures it seems that in the public schools men have now risen to about one-fifth of the teaching force.

There should be no conflict between men and women in this field, but most people probably feel that a somewhat stronger infusion of masculinity in education is a good thing.

SICK RAILROADS

The railroads have enjoyed a slight rally this summer, thank you, but they are still far from well. Out of thirteen railroads whose business for the first half of 1938 has been reported by the Wall Street Journal, twelve have shown losses. The Reading alone out of this group showed a net profit. Strong systems like the Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific suffered along with the small and weak ones.

Every little gain helps a patient in as dire straits as the railroads are. More freight, more passegers keep the heart pumping along. But the patient cannot recover until the cause is removed and the progress of the disease really checked.

The recent move of the Interstate Commerce Commission to end truck wars in the eastern states by establishing minimum trucking rates ought to be a help. But it begins to look as if more than this, and more than the fatter diet of better business would be needed before the rail transportation of the country could be gotten into a really sound condition for the future.

CYCLING IN THE PARK

The bicycle is not "coming back." It IS back. It must be, when the metropolis of this hemisphere proposes to build 60 miles of bicycle paths in the public parks. This proposal is not intended to encourage a wholesome recreation so much as to adapt facilities to existing facts.

There were 1,300,000 bicycles sold in the United States last year. This is not only seven times as many as six years ago; it is about 250,000 more than the sales level at the beginning of the century, when the bicycle was king of the highways and the automobile was just getting started.

A good deal of this new cycling wave is economic. The depression has stimulated use of the bicycle for riding to school and to work, and for delivering messages and small merchandise. But it is also appreciated lately for its all-around value, regardless of economic conditions.

The recreation side of it is not to be overlooked. Parks are ideal places for cycling. It would be fine if cities generally could provide bicycle paths, for wholesome fun and keeping young riders off dangerous streets and crowded sidewalks.

"There are just so many pitches in an arm," says Bob Grove. After that come stitches and twitches.

The big idea used to be to save money. Now it's to get a loan.

PLENTY EXCITEMENT FOR MAT FANS LAST NIGHT'S TWO EVENTS

Two headline matches brought a large crowd to the open air wrestling arena Thursday night despite the heat that had prevailed during the day. The fans were able to forget heat and most everything else when four roughsters billed for the evening's entertainment got into action, for there was almost every kind of wrestling one could wish for. And the referee had a hot night for he was hit with about everything but the kitchen sink during the two events.

Bad Boy Bunny Martin and the once king of the local roughsters, Blacksmith Smith, gave the fans plenty of excitement in their main event go. It seemed just a little out of line for fans to be favoring Blacksmith Smith and yelling for him to "get rough," but with Bunny Martin as an opponent most anything can happen.

After some extremely rough action Martin was given the first fall after he had been pinned by Smith. However, a misplaced blow by Smith had knocked Referee Wright out temporarily and he same to himself in time to give Martin the match. After a torrid second session, which saw Smith continually putting something in Martin's eyes and almost blinding him, and then Smith trying the same tactics on the referee. Martin was awarded the fall and match on a foul.

Joe Porelli and Bearcat Johnson went three falls, with Poerrli winning the match by capturing the last two falls. Johnson won the first fall with a top body pin after he had battered his opponent into grogginess. Porelli took the second fall when he slipped out of a dangerous position and caught Johnson on his back and pinned him. Porelli also got the third and deciding fall with an arm hold and pinned his opponent by a display of extreme strength.

As before stated, there was plenty of excitement, with the referee getting considerable pummeling.

VEGETABLE GROWERS FACE ANOTHER PEST, HAWAIIAN BEET WORM

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Vegetable growers who expect to include beets in their fall gardens should be prepared to control the Hawaiian beet web worm, hymenia fascialis cramer, says J. N. Roney, entomologist at the Texas agricultural experiment station here.

Since 1933, he says, the insect has been conspicuous in Galveston county because of the losses it has caused. Early fall beets have as a rule been completely destroyed. Damage also has occurred in the lower Rio Grande valley.

The adult of the Hawaiian beet webworm is a small brown moth little more than a half inch long with two white markings on each of the front wings. Early in July it lays its eggs upon the leaves of "careless weeds," usually in masses. After a few days the eggs hatch and the caterpillars, which are watery white to dark green in color, spin a web over the leaves and usually feed in this protection. After the beets appear the moths of the beet webworm transfer their egg-laying to beet leaves, producing several generations.

Roney said the laboratory for truck crop insect investigation at Alta Loma recommends dust application of mixtures containing pyrethrum and sulphur beginning when the beets are two or three inches tall. Applications should be made at the rate of 20 to 30 pounds an acre at intervals of a week to 10 days and continue until the danger of insect attack is over. The mixture should contain at least .075 per cent pyrethrins, this per centage indicating the strength of the effect insecticidal mixture. A larger per centage of pyrethrins would not harm plants or man, but would add to the expense of the insecticide.

The report of the hearing will be taken before the Railroad Commission and a ruling from that body will be made at a later date, it was indicated.

TEXAS SUB-CAPITOL IS HEADQUARTERS OF W. LEE O'DANIEL

HOWARD MARSHALL GIVES INTERESTING INSIGHT INTO DAY'S ACTIVITIES

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A seven-room suite on the ninth floor of a multi-storied office building in Fort Worth almost has become another capitol of Texas.

It's the swanky, new headquarters of W. Lee O'Daniel, the flour merchant and radio master of ceremonies who will be the next governor of the state.

To it daily flows a stream of visitors, who include job-hunters, curiosity seekers, members of the legislature, persons with suggestions on how to overhaul the government, men, women and children.

Everyone is welcome. Most, but not all, of the callers get to see the man whose name and actions have been on the average Texan's lips for the last four months.

But—let's take a look at this strange new hub for swirling Texas politics. We'll start at the front door, peep in all the rooms and see how the boss himself performs.

This "little capitol" is at the end of a long corridor. On any average day, a pretty girl sits at a small desk in a sort of entrance hall. She greets each visitor with alert eyes, a wide-awake smile.

Molly O'Daniel.

"I'm Molly O'Daniel," she says. And probably the visitor is thrilled right off the bat. For nearly every Texan knows by this time who Molly is. For the information of those who may not, however, she is the 16-year-old daughter of the Democratic nominee for governor.

On O'Daniel's sensational campaign, she travelled with her father, passed the famous little "flour barrels" in which collections were taken up, smiled frequently and otherwise made herself a political asset.

Now Molly is the headquarters "receptionist."

At the far end of the entrance hall a door opens into a long room which to the newspaper man is one of the most important in the whole suit. It is the room where O'Daniel meets the "press" at 9:45 a. m. daily.

Furnishings include a long table about which are placed a dozen chairs, comfortably upholstered in dark green leather. On the table is a silver trophy, about four feet high, recently presented O'Daniel by Fort Worth business men.

Clerks, Stenographers.

On the right of the entrance are three rooms. In them a filing clerk and three stenographers may be seen at almost any hour of the day working at cabinets, typewriters and tables.

To the entrance's left is a large "waiting" room.

There visitors wait until O'Daniel can see them. They read newspapers, smoke and occasionally take a drink of iced water out of a vacuum pitcher handily placed on a nearby table for their convenience.

Next to the waiting room is the office of Garfield Crawford, former newspaperman and now secretary to O'Daniel. Adjacent to Crawford's sanctum is the big, corner-of-building office of O'Daniel.

So much for the physical layout.

About 8 o'clock on a run-o-mill morning, a smiling man in white linen suit, bareheaded, strides in, alone. He is O'Daniel. Sometimes he doesn't get down until about nine, although he probably has been "up" many hours. Before coming to the office, he often does a lot of work at home.

Cheery Greeting.

"Hello everyody," he may cry through the door of the waiting room. He will probably smile and get smiles in return. Then he will go on to his private office. Or he may slip into his office first and Crawford soon will be sending visitors in to him.

"What do they want to see you about?" O'Daniel was asked.

"Nearly everything under the sun," he laughed in reply. "About appointments of friends, jobs for friends and themselves, suggestions on taxes, on raising money for pensions, changing various laws, everything it seems."

Mail continues to pour in in great volume, as it did during the campaign and shortly after it. Between talks with callers, O'Daniel answers some of it and gives Crawford instructions what to do with the rest. Lots of it is going into files for attention later.

A typical press conference! O'Daniel, in shirtsleeves, sits at the head of the long table. If it is a day on which he is to deliver a radio speech, he hands out copies of the speech to correspondents to be moved in advance.

Answers Questions.

Then he answers questions. They concern, for the most part, his views toward problems of government. Also his personal likes and dislikes, habits, hobbies, anything that may be of public interest.

If he knows the answer to a question, he usually gives it. If he doesn't, he says so. These days he admits freely he doesn't know a great deal about government, but says he intends to begin an intensive study right away and expects to learn. Some questions, if he has reasons for not answering them, he turns aside with a joke, or maybe he smiles and says nothing.

The other day he stopped the questioning, went to his office and came back with Mrs. O'Daniel, who is tall, graceful and pretty.

"Dear, I want you to see what I have to go through every day," he smiled, showing her the conference under full steam.

Mrs. O'Daniel smilingly replied she understood why he liked to "spend so much time at the office."

Radio Speeches.

Time for a radio speech. O'Daniel makes a dash for a hotel and a broadcasting studio on its top. The hillbilly boys—and their girl member—play and sing. O'Daniel talks.

Then he's off for a lunch with someone, perhaps with Carr P. Collins, his close friend and political advisor. After lunch it's back to headuarters for him. More conferences. More letters to read.

A press correspondent obtains a few minutes to ask more questions, and O'Daniel's telephone rings. Molly happens to be in the office and answers it.

"Oh, yes, Mrs. O'Daniel," Molly says with mock formality; "you may talk with Mr. O'Daniel, but not too long."

Outside Pat O'Daniel, age 19, rushes up to Molly and cries:

"When am I going to get in there to see if I can go to Dallas?"

Pat and Mike Work.

Pat and Mike, 18, the latter O'Daniel' other son, have been working in one of the stenographers rooms mailing copies of O'Daniel's speeches—mimeographed—to those who have asked them. A washtub full has to go out after each speech, a stenographer says.

A press correspondent expresses some surprise to see the boys at the work.

O'Daniel keeps those boys busy," says one close to O'Daniel who ought to know. "It isn't easy either, to think up things for them to do, but he does it. That's why they're fine boys."

O'Daniel may leave the offices in early afternoon, or remain there until about five. After he leaves, the callers thin out.

He isn't getting much rest. Even when he's home, he has some visitors to see, telephone calls to answer, mail to attend to. Often he's up late at night.

"Getting up in the morning," he said, "I almost meet myself going to bed."

Smith Renamed Member of Labor Relations Board

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today reappointed Donald Wakefield Smith of Pennsylvania as a member of the National Labor Relations Board.

Smith will serve a term of five years. His present term expires August 27.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor recently discussed the expiration of Smith's term with the President, but said he had lodged no specific objections against Smith. Instead, Green said, he had suggested to the President that members o the NLRD generally should be "more judicial minded."

While this was brought out after his conversations here with the president, Green last night sent a protest from Atlantic City to Mr. Roosevelt against reappointment of Smith, acting at the direction of the American Federation of labor's executive committee meeting at the resort city.

The protest contended that Smith had shown "bias" in his decisions and had "lost the confidence of the working men and women represented by the American Federation of Labor."

SHARP NOTE FROM SECRETARY HULL IS SENT TO MEXICO

SEIZURE OF AMERICAN-OWNED FARM LANDS WITHOUT PAY MUST BE STOPPED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A sharp note from Secretary Hull served notice on the Mexican government today that it must stop seizing American-owned farm lands without proper compensation.

The state department head demanded for a second time that Mexico make prompt settlement of $10,000,000 in claims for property already expropriated.

Persistence in a policy of "bald confiscation," he said, "will seriously jeopardize the interests of all peoples throughout the world."

Hull's note, made public last night, asked Mexico to agree either to inter-American arbitration or to make monthly payments in escrow while two representatives—one from each government—determine the value of the confiscated land.

Mexico rejected Hull's first arbitration proposal three weeks ago. Dispatches from Mexico City, however, said a source close to the government indicated possible acceptance of the alternative of a two-man commission.

Hull's note was characterized by officials here as one of the strongest this government has sent in recent years.

Rejects Contention.

He told Mexico she could not expect the rules of law to be changed "solely in order to assist the country in question to extricate itself from difficulties for which it is itself entrely responsible." He rejected Mexico's contention that international law did not oblige her to make adequate payment.

"I do not hesitate to maintain that this is the first occasion in the history of the western hemisphere that such a theory has been seriously advanced," he said.

"If such a policy were to be generaly followed, what citizen of one republic making his living in any of the other 20 republics of the western hemisphere could have any assurance from one day to the next that he and his family would not be evicted from their home and bereft of all means of livelihood?"

Would Break Down Confidence.

Hull, by bringing the other nations of the western hemisphere into his argument, was believed enlisting them in support of his position. American citizens have large investments throughout Latin America.

The secretary contended that if the nations of the world adopted the Mexican theory of property it "would result in the immediate breakdown of confidence and trust between nations."

He disputed Mexico's argument that the United States could not expect better treatment for Americans than Mexico was giving Mexicans (namely, no payment so far.)

"When Aliens are admitted into a country," Hull said, "the country is obligated to accord them that degree of protection of life and property consistent with the standards of justice recognized by the law of nations."

Hull did not refer to seizure last March of American oil properties in Mexico.

Embassy Officials Silent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Mexican embassy officials were silent today as to what course their government might take in view of Secretary Hull's latest note on the farm lands expropriation question.

They said the embassy had forwarded the note to the Mexican government, and any comment would have to come from the Mexican foreign office.

No Roosevelt Comment.

HYDE PARK, Aug 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had no comment tolay on Secretary Hull's note reiterating claims for reimbursement in connection with Mexico's seizure of American farm properties. The chief executive said queries rgarding the note properly should go to Hull.

ROOSEVELT SAYS POLITICAL ACCORD REMAINS UNBROKEN

HYDE PARK, N. Y., ug. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that he and James J. Farley "were in complete agreement as usual" during a political conference yesterday.

The president made this direct statement in response to questions at his press conference.

He and Farley were understood to have gone over the political situations in every state where the New Deal is an issue.

Farley reportedly urged the president to go personally into Maryland in an effort to defeat Senator Millard Tydings, an administration opponent seeking renomination.

The president did not comment on this, however, saying only that he had no engagements besides two already announced for patriotic observance in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Asked for comment on reports that the Workers liance, an organization of WPA workers, is seeking to raise a $50,000 campaign fund from FPA employees, the president gave reporters this reply:

"I very much hope that people on relief will not contribute any money for the purpose of aiding any party."

The president expressed approval of a statement by Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, regarding the raising of campaign funds from relief workers. Hopkins vigorously condemned the practice.

The president and Farley were reported to have discussed many other subjects besides politics during their talk yesterday.

Farley, who was an overnight guest at the summer White House, left for New York this morning.

U. S. AMBASSADOR PROTESTS ATTACK ON CHINESE AIRLINER

SUCH ATTACKS JEOPARDIZE AMERICAN LIVES GREW DECLARES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The United States expressed to Japan today its "emphatic objection" to the attack of a Japanese war plane on a Chinese commercial airliner Wednesday with the reported loss of 14 lives.

On instructions from Secretary Hull American ambassador Joseph C. Grew, Tokyo, presented the Japanese government with a note which declared:

"My government desires to express its emphatic objection to the jeopardizing in this way of lives of American as well as other non-combatant occupants of unarmed civilian planes engaged in clearly recognized and established commercial services over a regularly scheduled air route."

Hull told the Japanese, "this attack upon the plane has aroused public feeling in the United States."

The pilot of the plane was an American, Hugh L. Wood of Winfield, Kas., who was one of the three survivors.

The American note declared that "not only was the life of an American national directly imperiled but loss was also occasioned to American property interests as the Pan-American Airways has a very substantial interest in the China National Aviation Corporation." (The company which owned the airliner.)

TOKYO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew tonight protested to the Japanese government against the destruction of a Chinese-American airliner by Japanese warplanes near Canton, south China, Wednesday.

The ambassador's representations were made during a half-hour conference at the foreign office with Kensuke Horinouchi, vice-minister for foreign affairs.

It was understood on good authority that the United States envoy took the position that such attacks were likely to jeopardize American lives and that this attack contravened Japan's previous assurances that the lives and property of neutrals in China would be respected by the Japanese forces.

(The American pilot of the plane, H. L. Woods of Winfield, Kas., escaped injury, but 12 Chinese, passengers or members of the crew, are believed to have perished. The plane was operated by the China National Aviation Corporation, owned jointly by the Chinese government and private American interests.)

A Japanese foreign office spokesman suggested today Chinese aviation companies should notify Japanese naval officials of intended passenger flights as a "possible" means of avoiding attack.

He defended Japanese pilots who forced down a Chinese transport near Canton Wednesday.

Bodies Are Recovered.

HONGKONG, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Four bodies were recovered today from the wreckage of the Chinese-American-owned airliner forced down near Canton Wednesday by Japanese machine-gun fire.

Chinese boatmen extricated three and the fourth, apparently washed out of the bullet-riddied plane by the strong, 40-feet-deep current, was found by the crew of the British gunboat Cicala. All bore bullet marks.

Prominent Young Tyler Doctor Is Insect Victim

TYLER, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Dr. Horace M. Mayfield, 31, son of Former U. S. Senator Earle B. Mayfield, died last night 15 minutes after he was stung by an insect

A Dallas pathologist was making a test to determine the specific cause of his death. The kind of insect which inflicted the fatal bite was not identified.

Mayfield was a twin brother of Earle B. Mayfield, Jr., national committeeman for the young democrats. He was prominent in social and medical circles.

Mayfield was stung while he was vacationing with Mrs. Mayfield. Before a doctor could reach him he was dead.

He was a graduate of the University of Texas, its medical branch at Galveston and had studied in Vienna.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow in Tyler.

CORRIGAN WARMLY GREETED IN TOWN OF BIRTH FRIDAY

YOUNG IRISH FLIER MADE FAMOUS BY 'WRONG WAY' FLIGHT IN GALVESTON

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS

GALVESTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Douglas Corrigan, the Irishman who flew the wrong way to fame, today came back to the town of his birth and the scene of his first triumph—a baby show.

The Island folk he left as a lad years ago turned out en masse to give him a welcome as befits a hero.

Whistles blew, horns tooted and hats sailed in the air as the $900 plane he flew from New York to Dublin, Ireland, landed on the eastern side of the island after flying across Galveston Bay from the mainland.

Townsmen presented Corrigan with a bronze plaque commemorating his wrong way flight—the trip to Ireland he claimed should have been made to California.

Atop the plaque was a compass. The compass needle pointed west instead of North.

"That's all right," the smiling flyer said, "sometimes it's hard to read the compass right."

A few seconds after he hopped out of the old plane which he flew here from San Antonio, Corrigan dedicated the municipal airport which the Galveston City Council will be known henceforth as Douglas Corrigan airport.

Makes Short Speech.

Corrigan made a little speech thanking the town of his birth for the honor and then was ushered down the expansive seawall boulevard to a hotel where a huge luncheon was laid in his honor.

Mayor, Adrian F. Levy, who greeted him at the airport acted as toastmaster at the luncheon.

During the afternoon Corrigan is scheduled to parade down through the streets of this former home of Jean LaFitte, the pirate, to city hall and then to the old Brownstone house almost in the heart of the city where he was born 31 years ago.

It was shortly after his birth there in 1907 that Douglas Corrigan made his first bid for fame. He was adjudged the prettiest baby in Galveston.

"I'm glad to get back to the old home town after an absence of 30 years," he said at the luncheon.

After today's parade he is to appear at a public reception at the municipal auditorium and tonight a banquet will be given in his honor.

Leaves San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 26—(AP)—Douglas Corrigan, Texas' noted "wrong about" flyer, left San Antonio at 9:03 a. m. today for Galveston, the place of his birth.

GALVESTON, A u g. 26.—(AP)—Douglas Corrigan, who startled the world with his "wrong way" flight, comes home today.

The transatlantic flier, who yesterday visited in Lufkin, Austin and San Antonio, is due here at noon in his famous $900 "crate" and a rousing welcome, including dedication of the local airport in his honor has been arranged.

The celebration includes a parade, public reception, luncheon, banquet, a boat trip on Galveston bay and a visit to his birthplace, where a plaque will be unveiled.

Governor James V. Allred headed a long list of state notables who will greet the flier.

San Antonio gave Corrigan the greatest reception ever accorded a visitor there when the smiling Irishman arrived.

He laid a wreath at the Alamo in tribute to heroes of this historic Texas shrine and received the key to the city from Mayor C. K. Quin.

Corrigan will remain here until noon tomorrow when he will take off for New Orleans.

Corrigan "Gracious Visitor."

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Governor James V. Allred considers Douglas Corrigan "the most gracious, thoughtful, considerate celebrity," he has ever helped entertain.

"For once," said the 39-year-old chief executive today, "I found some one who not only could keep up with me but I had a hard time keeping up with him."

Allred said Mayor Tom Miller wanted Corrigan to go by the mayor's house yesterday, so Mrs Miller, who has been sick, might get a look at him as he passed. The native Texas flier insisted on running into the house to see Mrs. Miller.

A newspaperman asked the governor what would have happened if Corrigan had run for governor against another successful Irishman, W. Lee o'Daniel.

"That might have been a case," Allred replied, "of an irresistible force meeting an immovable object."

EXPLOSION OCCURS IN JAFFA VEGETABLE MARKET ON FRIDAY

ARABS SEEK REVENGE AND ATTACK BANKS AND BUSINESS HOUSES

By JAMES A. MILLS

JAFFA, Palestine, Aug. 26. (AP)—A deafening bomb explosion in a crowded vegetable market today killed at least 20 Arabs and wounded 74 others, ten of them dangerously, as dawn was breaking in this Biblical city.

The explosion was so terrific that the detonation could be heard clearly within a radius of ten miles.

Police raced to the scene and faced an ugly Arab crowd seeking revenge.

It attacked Barclay's bank, the Anglo-Palestine bank, set fire to many shops and stoned, waylaid and shot Jewish pedestrians who were hurrying to the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv for refuge.

Ten Jews were taken to hospitals after attacks.

The situation became so threatening the police were forced to fire on the angry crowd and finally restored a semblance of order with the aid of troops.

A strong detachment of soldiers hurried to Jaffa from outlying points and armored cars took positions on the main streets. Machine gun posts were set up on the border line between Jaffa and Tel Aviv.

Immediately after the explosion authorities imposed an indefinite curfew.

When this corrospondent attempted to go to the scene from Jerusalem in an automobile flying the Stars and Stripes, he was halted by authorities.

"We don't want you to return to Jerusalem in a coffin," one of them explained.

I reached Jaffa, however, and found the ancient city resembled a war-besciged town.

Late this afternoon, Jaffa still was seething with excited racial hatred, necessitating the closest guard by combined army and police forces.

The rioting and blast raised the Holy Land's casualties to 1,100—including almost 300 dead—since the ambushing of a bus touched off the current chapter of bloody terrorism last July 5. This toll exceeds that of any comparable period in the long Palestine strife.

(British troops dynamited several houses in Jenin last night as punishment for the slaying of British District Commissioner W. S. Moffatt by an Arab, who later was shot when he was said to have tried to escape from the Jenin military camp.)

PRISON OFFICIAL HELD RESPONSIBLE DEATH OF CONVICTS

CORONER DECLARES MEN LITERALLY BAKED ALIVE; PROMISES BREAK CASE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A group of "tough" guards, whose duties Coroner Charles H. Hersch said included punishment of unruly convicts, was blamed today for the Philadelphia county prison's deaths in the "Klondiko"—a stuffy steam-heated isolation building.

Hersch called this class of guards a mob of "terrorists" and said:

"We're going after members of the mob, and find out how they operated."

He said deaths of four men Monday in the "Klondike" a 15 by 50 foot building heated by a long line of large radiators, indicated that the building had been use intentionally by some of the guards as a "roaster" for disciplining prisoners.

He said his investigation indicated that a "higher up" also was responsible for the deaths.

It was this official, the coroner declared, who gave the order to "turn on the heat" in punishment cells where he said the prisoners were "literally baked alive" after taking part in an organized revolt against a "monotonous" diet.

"We have definite information as to the identity of the higher up who was responsible for the incarceration, punishment and death of these men," Hersch said.

Although he declined to discuss names, the coroner said he had warrants for the arrest of four to six guards and officials" and promised he would "break the case wide open."

Hersch said his information concerning the "higher up" was given by four guards during six hours of questioning last night.

He identified two of the guards as Francis Smith, 43, and Alfred W. Brough, 30, held in $2,500 bail each as material witnesses in the deaths. Before going to the prison where the questioning took place, the coroner said Smith had offered to "tell all."

Meanwhile, Dr. Martin R. Crane, coroner's physician, reported that a final autopsy on the bodies of the four convicts disclosed that their hearts had shrunk to half their normal size.

The report, announced by Hersch, also revealed that other organs were similarly dehydrated.

Hersch declared that the temperature must have been nearly 200 degrees in the cells where the pisones were confined with about 20 others for participating in the strike.

The super-heat was produced, he said, by closing windows and ventilators and turning steam into radiators in the corridors outside the cells and beyond the reach of prisoners.

MID-WEST AND MID-ATLANTIC STATES TO BE MAIN CAMPAIGN GROUNDS NATIONAL POLITICS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A survey of political prospects as viewed by both Republican and Democratic leaders indicated today that this fall's inter-party battles will be fought in the Mid-West and Middle Atlantic states.

The extent and nature of the Republican campaign was up for discussion today in a conference at Indianapolis of party officials and candidates from a dozen central states. This will be followed tomorrow by a "cornfield" rally at Capehart Farms, near Washington, Ind.

Spokesmen here emphasized the location of the gathering as demonstrating the importance which party leaders attack to their Mid-west campaign.

Democrats will begin their campaign Saturday in a key Eastern state—Pennsylvania. There will be a rally at Hershey for the ticket headed by Gov. George Earle as senatorial nominee and Charles Alvin Jones as nominee for governor.

Oratory in more than a score of states will not start until late September, because primaries are yet to be held.

In Maine, however, the general election campaign is drawing to a close. Its voters will ballot for state officials and three members of the house Sept. 12.

At present both Maine senators, whose terms do not expire this year, and all three representatives are Republican. Victor Harding, secretary of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, predicted the Democrats would pick up at least one seat in the house.

On the Republican side confidence in holding firm in Maine was overshadowed by predictions of substantial Republican inroads into the huge Democratic majority in the house. Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican congresional campaign committee, declared the party would win 70 seats from the Democrats.

Indications were that Republican leaders expect to take most of these in the Midwest and in Eastern states. Democratic leaders apparently also look for the tough fights in those places. One prominent Democrat summed up the situation this way:

'I dont' believe we will have any trouble in the South or border states or west of Kansas. Iowa and Michgan ar battlegrounds, I think we will fare all right in Upstate New York, but New York City will furnish a fight from beginning to end, and so will Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Class Schedules Junior Hi-School Announced Today

Until the classroom addition to the junior high school is completed, probably about Thanksgiving, eighth grade students will attend classes from 8 a. m., until 12 noon, and seventh grade students will go from noon until 4 p. m., it was announced today by Principal O. F. Allen. School officials have revised the schedule and made possible the split classes, but also they have worked out their schedule for the resumption of regular classes after the building is completed.

Principal Allen said there will be no regular noon hour. Seventh grade students will have their lunches before coming to school at noon, and eighth graders will have their lunch after dismissal at noon. Teachers' schedules have been revised and some will take up their duties at 11 a. m., and continue through the day, while others, who taught morning classes will be dismissed at 1 o'clock, Principal Allen, pointed out.

He asked the fullest co-operation of parents and students in meeting the unusual situation, and said it will be successful only with their help.

The following schedule for registration next week was announced today by Principal Allen:

High eighth grade, 9 a. m., Tuesday.
Low eighth grade, 9 a. m., Wednesday.
High seventh grade, 9 a. m., Thursday.
Low seventh grade 9 a. m., Friday.

Four Insurgent Warships Whip Loyal Destroyer

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Four insurgent Spanish warships pounced today on a lone government destroyer after a week's cat-and-mouse game on the high seas and smashed it was a loss of at least 26 lives.

The government destroyer, the 1,650-ton Jose Luis Diez, struggled into this port under her own power with the bodies of 20 of her dead in her water-logged forward compartments.

She was down at the bows and in danger of sinking.

Powerful insurgent shore guns in Spanish Morocco, across the strait from the Rock of Gibraltar, backed up the overwhelming strength of the insurgent cruiser Canarias and three insurgent destroyers.

They had lain in wait for a week before catching the Diez in waters near where Lord Nelson fought the historic battle of Trafalgar.

The Diaz left Le Havre, France, for Valencia, Spain, amid great secrecy a week ago after repairs that took eight months. She had been damaged in a bombing off Gijon, Spain.

Practically all of the above money is spent with Corsicana merchants and business establishments except in some of the larger communities where sewing rooms are maintained, and are important parts of the current business.

Those receiving these governmental checks are spending them for the necessities of life, food and clothing with their home town merchants.

Beauty Diary of Edna Kent Forbes

THE SUMMER COLD

Nothing will pull you down more than a bad cold in the summer months. Read Miss Forbes' advice today about getting rid of one in the best and shortest time possible.

E. K. Forbes.

While the summer cold is not so apt to develop into a serious illness, as colds may during the rest of the year, it does drag along for a much longer time than the colds in other seasons. The common cold of the warm months is very debilitating, possibly because it is so difficult to cure. Most people with such colds keep up and go about their usual occupations, wretched all the while, and a drain upon everyone whom they meet. The better way would be for every one with one of these colds, to give up and get into bed, since they are spreading infection and are really too ill to be at work. If it is possible to remain in bed, the skin would have a chance to throw off the poisons causing the illness, and one could keep the skin active without risk of sudden chilling. The hot bath is also as useful in summer as with the cold at other periods of the year. There should be a thorough purging, and a very simple diet. The aim should be to get the skin active and keep it so.

No matter what the thermometer registers, a hot liquid is helpful, and it will be so stimulating that the skin will start to perspire profusely. Hot coffee is best if there is a feeling of being debilitated from either cold or hot weather; and with the out-pouring through the skin there comes an immediate renewal of energy. Other hot liquids, such as broths, milk, or tea, especially flaxseed tea, all start clearing out the acids and relieve the system of the poisonous state all due to what we so casually term a "cold." Rest, and protection in bed, will end a summer cold in one quarter the time it takes when the victim keeps going along in the usual occupations.

Mrs. T.—After losing weight through baths, you will make it up again quickly unless you watch yoursely. You will get rid of a lot of acid through sweating it out, but the weight will return if you eat the same amont of food and keep to the same foods that had caused the excess weight. Two or three epsom salts baths a week would not be too much for a woman of good health. Turkish baths are pleasant to take, and will do this same thing for you. It costs nothing though for the bath at home, and also takes less of your time.

If you have any beauty problems you cannot solve, write for Edna Kent Forbes' three NEW beauty booklets: (1) "Fifteen Minutes a Day for Beauty. (2) "The Finer Points of Beauty." (3) "Eating and Bathing for Beauty." Send ten cents (in stamps) for EACH booklet, to pay for printing and handling and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope (s. a. s. e.). New Orleans Cotton Declines

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Cotton futures declined 5 to 8 points in initial transactions today.

Trading continued light during the morning but buying support was lacking and prices drifted lower under persistent long liquidation.

Towards mid-session Oct. contracts sold at 8.32, Dec. at 8.39, March at 8.40, May at 8.41, and July at 8.35, or 4 to 10 points bllow thep revious close.

Weather conditions over the belt were mostly favorable except for some unwanted showers in parts of the central area. Temperatures ranged from normal to above.

The turnover Saturday was 6,250 bales and open commitments 383,400 bales, an increase of 900 bales from the previous day.

STOCK MARKET IS ATTACKED BY CASE OF WAR SHIVERS

LEADING ISSUES BROKE ONE TO MORE THAN FIVE POINTS MONDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The stock market today suffered an attack of the war shivers, among other things, and leading issues broke 1 to more than 5 points in one of the worst tumbles since the beginning of the mid-year upswing. Belated buying support enabled some shares to close moderately up from the lows.

The list dived to around its bottom levels in the forenoon as advices from Europe stressed the growing tension over the German-Czech controversy, with troop movements on virtually all borders exemplifying the changes of an explosion that might draw in Great Britain and other world powers.

At the same time, brokers advanced the guess that, despite the cloudier news from overseas, the market may have been waiting for some excuse to establish the "correction" which many thought was overdue as a result of the lengthy upward ride which got under way last June.

Business news, on the whole, continued to present favorable aspects—there were a few exceptions—but trading contingents were a trifle discouraged, apparently, because of the futile efforts of the market to penetrate the year's average high after getting within touching distance of this mark a number of times.

In the morning upset the ticker tape fell behind for a brief interval. Come-back attempts brought another slow-down. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Selling dried up in the stock market today after heavy offerings at the opening had knocked down leaders fractions to 2 points and a few specialties as much as 4.

Large blocks changed hands at the start as traders got out from under. Volume soon dwindled, however.

Principal sufferers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Anaconda, Kennecott, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil of N. J., Johns-Minville, Phillip Morris, Loew's, International Nickel, Douglas Aircraft and Western Union

Bonds and commodities followed stocks to a lesser extent.

RACKET TRIAL

Stryker cross-examining, went as follows:

Q. Your reluctance to come to New York was due to the fact that on the first occasion that you talked with Mr. Danforth (an investigator for District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey), you were not sure, isn't that so?

A. That is quite true. Yes.

Q. Then did not Mr. Danforth tell you that Hines must have been in Bridgeport and then show you his picture?

A. No sir, he did not.

Identifies Schultz.

Hughes had testified that out of a dozen-odd pictures shown him by Danforth, he had identified Dutch Schultz and several of "the Dutchman's" henchmen ,including "Lulu" Rosenkranz, George Weinberg and J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, the mob's lawyer.

Q. Well, when you said you were not sure, that was in response to his various questions regarding Mr. Hines, wasn't it?

A. I wouldn't say that. No.

Q.Well, what were you sure about?

A. He gave me a group of pictures to identify the man that I had seen at the hotel, and among these pictures I picked out Mr. Hines' picture and I told him at that time, "I think I have seen that man at the hotel beore."

Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora took over the questioning.

Q. What were you not sure about the first time you talked with Danforth.

A. I am not sure about the grey-haired man you are speaking of.

Q. Who is the grey-haired man that you had in mind?

A. At the time he was referring to Mr. Hines.

Q. Then you were not sure you had seen by Hines the first time you talked with Danforth, when he showed you some pictures?

A' That's right.

Dewey Objects.

Dewey sprang up to object and a fiery clash between the 36-year-old prosecutor and the big-shouldered defense, counsel ensued.

Dewey accused Stryker of making "insinuations."

"I am being insulted," Stryker snapped back.

"Lets not be over-sensitive, gentlemen," Justice Pecora admonished.

On re-direct examination Dewey brought out that when Hughes was taken to the rotundra of the court house he was deliberately let alone to pick out the "grey-haired, stockily-built man."

"I icked out Hines," he said.

Hughes said he saw Hines with Schultz twice, as well as with Schultz' henchmen including "Lulu" Rosenkranz, George Weinberg and J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, the mob's lawyer.

Schultz at Hotel Often

The witness, who said he lived in Gardner, Mass., declared he had seen Schultz "many, many times" at the hotel.

Q. Did you see Hines a second time, after seeing him in the lobby?

A. I saw him again in the coffee shop. He was seated at a table along with Dutch Schultz and Rosenkranz.

Q. Was that table always reserved.

A. That is right. Schultz and his mob always had that table whenever they were in the coffee shop.

Hughes dramatically confronted Hines in the courtroom and pointing him out said crisply:

"That is the man I saw with Dutch Schultz."

"The man," he added, "with the glasses."

Hines stared at him unblinkingly through his horn-rimmed spectacles.

Hughes said he saw Hines at the hotel at least twice. He said he knew Schultz was "a nationally known criminal" and that he remembered Hines in the mobster's company because anyone visiting Schutz made a "stronger impression" on him than an ordinary guest at the hotel.

Dewey Calls Witnesses

Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey called one witness after another as the trial entered its third week, attempted to link Hines with the Schultz racket.

Jack Karnes, 45, a Bronx coal dealer and vice-president of the Bronx Chamber of Commerce, testified he took a political lieutenant of Hines along with J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, the "kid mouthpiece" of the Schultz gang, to an interview with the mayor of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., in connection with the policy racket.

The witness identified photographs of Davis and George Weinberg, one-time business manager of the Schultz "policy empire."

"Do you recall when you first met Davis?" he was asked.

"Probably in January, 1934."

"Did Davis come to your home?"

"Yes."

"With whom?"

Was Hines' Aid

"Plunkett," the witness replied, referring to John F. Plunkett, former New York City superintendent of buildings and a Hines aide for 15 years.

Weinberg had testified that Hines sent Plunkett to talk about the moving of the policy "banks" to Mt. Vernon after police raids in New York became "too hot."

Kearns testified he arranged a meeting of the Hines lieutenant and the Schultz mob's lawyer with Leslie V. Bateman, then mayor of Mt. Vernon.

Earlier, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey indicated he would seek testimony concerning an attempt by Hines, charged with conspiracy in the policy racket, to purchase the New York baseball club.

The prescutor let it be known that he had "invited Max D. Steuer, noted lawyer who aided Hines in the effort to gain control of the Giants, to attend today's session.

Steuer indicated he was prepared to be sworn as a witness.

Goes to Uderworld First

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey first reached into the underworld for "tattle-tale" testimony.

He pieced together a picture of a politically protected racket shot through with treachery that left Harlem's trusting numbers players "gambling" with little or no chance of winning, thanks to a gangland device for fixing the "hit number" daily.

The principal witness in the first two weeks was George Weinberg, erstwhile lieutenant of the slain gangster, Dutch Schultz.

Weinberg, whose story covers 366 pages of the record, has pleaded guilty; has testified for the state that he paid Hines "protection" money and contributed to election campaign funds, and has admitted imperturably under oath that he committed perjury in two other major brushes with the law —once to save his money in an income tax action and once trying to beat a prison rap.

He also denied he killed Schultz in a Newark tavern or that he raided the supposedly cached fortune of Schultz.

Weinberg's testimony has been branded by the defenes as suspect.

The next indicated tack of Dewey's effort to send Hines to prison calls for witnesses of unimpeachable reputation who may offer evidence to tighten the web he is spinning with testimony around the influential Tammany man.

PUERTO RICAN AIR STUDENT SAVED LIFE BY QUITTING PLANE

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Julio Rodriguez, 23, of Santurce, Puerto Rico, a student pilot at the Spartan school of aeronautics, joined today the Caterpillar club of airmen who save their necks by parachuing from faltering planes.

Rodriguez was unhurt when he leaped from his spinning training plane four miles northeast of the Tulsa municipal airport.

He sepaks little English, but acknowledged with a grin it was "some experience."

The low-wing trainer started spinning at 5,000 feet Rodriguez said. He tried vainly to pull it out of the spin and took to his parachute at about 3,000 feet.

The student landed on his feet, pulled down his chute and telephoned the school from a farmhouse that he was "O. K."

The plane splintered itself in a field.

Rodriguez entered the Spartan school in February. He has 52 hours of training to his credit.

Surprise Birthday Party For Pioneer Woman on Sept. 20

Saturday night, August 20, 1938, seventy-three relatives and close friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hamilton to honor Mr. Hamilton's sister, Mrs. Addie Green, with a surprise birthday party.

Mrs. Green was invited to a musical. Accordingly friends brought their instruments and rendered some beautiful music which all enjoyed while greeting and chatting with old friends. A drawing was announced. Each one present was given a number, the honoree drawing the lucky number. When she went to claim her prize all began to sing, "Happy Birthday to You," as she was led to a large table loaded with gifts and centered with a three-tier white cake decorated in pink and green, having seventy lighted candles on it.

After making her wish, with the help of her little grandson, Hugh Springfield, she blew the candles out. The packages were opened and passed around for everyone to admire. Then a nice thank-you speech was made amid the applause of all present. Delicious fruit punch and cookies, with the birthday cake, were served to all present. After more music all went home having had a pleasant visit. —Contributed.

TOKYO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today that he saw no need for further investigation of the machine-gunning of the American and Chinese-owned passenger plane in which 14 persons were killed off the South China coast last Wednesday.

He reiterated a previous denial that Japanese warplanes machine-gunned the plane after it had alighted on a waterway south of Canton, indicating that Japan would take that stand in her reply to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew's protest.

BASE RATE FOR COTTON LOANS IS PLACED 8.30 CENTS

FULL LOAN RATE AVAILABLE ONLY TO PLANTERS WITHIN AAA ALLOTMENTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The agriculture department announced today it would make loans on 1938 cotton at the base rate of 8.30 cents a pound.

The department also announced it had revised the loan program on last year's corn by raising the rate from 50 cents to 57 cents a bushel—the rate which officials said would be made available on the corn crop now being grown.

The 8.30-cent loan rate will apply to 7-8 inch middling cotton, with differentials for other grades and staple lengths. This compares with a base rate of nine cents a pound on last year's crop. Loans are made to growers desiring to hold their crops off the market for possible better prices in the future.

The loans actually will range from 5.30 cents a pound on 13-16 inch or shorter low middling to 10.75 cents on 1 1-8-inch or long good middling or better cotton.

The full loan rate will be available only to cotton growers who planted within this year's AAA acreage allotments. Non-cooperators will be eligible for loans at 60 per cent of the cooperators' rate and only on that part of their production in excess of their marketing quotas.

Under the revised corn loan, growers who already have placed grain under loan will be eligible to receive the increased rate.

Both cotton and corn loans will be made by the Commodity Credit corporation. The cotton loans will bear four per cent interest and mature July 31, 1939.

A special loan schedule was set up for irrigated cotton grown in Western Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. It will range from 6.85 cents on 15-16 inch spotted middling to 9.70 cents on 1 1-8 inch or longer good middling and better grades.

The 50-cent corn loan on 1937 corn mature on or before November 1, 1938. Producers who now have such loans will have four possible methods of liquidating them, officials said. These are:

1. They may pay off their loans in cash and secure possession of the corn collateral for feeding or for other purposes.

2. They may secure new loans at 57 cents per bushel on their corn if the grain is in acceptable condition.

3. They may secure permission from the county AAA committee to shell their corn and secure new loans at 57 cents per bushel, stored in acceptable bins and granaries.

4. If they do not desire to retain their corn under the renewal loan, they may deliver the corn collateral in payment of their old loans.

TWO FORCEFUL MEN DOMINATED SCENE IN TRIAL JIMMY HINES

GIVE DAMAGING TESTIMONY AGAINST TAMMANY LEADER; FALSE COUNSEL SAYS

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Two forceful men—one dead and beyond the law, the other alive and fighting for liberty—dominated the scene sketched in the first two weeks of Tammany district leader James J. Hines' policy racket trial.

The first was Arthur Flegenheimer, the man an awed underworld knew as Dutch Schultz, the gun-packing overlord of the numbers game. The other is Hines himself, an affable Irish fellow whom thousands call "Jimmy."

In eight days of testimony, the blue ribbon jury deciding Hines' case heard 19 witnesses tell a startling story about those two, a story Hines' lawyers contend was fabricated out of lies and perjury.

It was the story, first, of how the Dutchman, viciously quick-tempered and ruthless, advanced out of a grimy, little speakeasy in the Bronx to take over the independent policy games of Harlem, forge them into one big combination and, with his gun in a nervous hand, rake off half their fabulous, easy-money profits.

As the story continued, Hines appeared in the testimony as political guardian angel of the terror-ridden racket, fixing judges and breaking policemen for a weekly fee of $500 or more and accepting thousands of dollars besides for the political campaigns he made.

Most of the story was sketched by George Weinberg, lean, laconic lieutenant of the slain racket boss, who had been on the stand more than 25 hours when the trial recessed yesterday until Monday.

Beginning when Hines himself faced the calm, casual witness and grimly called him a liar, the defense hacked at Weinberg's testimony ceaselessly for two days.

Twice Lloyd Paul Stryker, Hines' chief counsel, trapped Weinberg in errors on important dates and at every opening sarcastically hurled at him the words "gangster," "crook," "thief," "gunman," and "perjurer."

EX-CONVICT STRIPPED, NAILED TO CROSS BY FORMER PALS WHEN HE WANTED TO GO STRAIGHT

RENO, Nev., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Ed Collins, 27-year-old ex-convict, was stripped, nailed to a cross and left to die with his clothes burning at his feet because, he said, "I know too much."

Rescued, he told officers before going to sleep today under the influence of hypodermics, that he was nailed to the cross last night by two former "pals" involved in a San Diego, Calif., pay roll holdup for which he was sent to San Quentin prison.

When he refused to join them in a robbery and insisted upon "going straight," Collins said they told him:

"All right, if you want to be a little Jesus Christ, we'll make one out of you."

Collins screams and the fire which seared his feet attracted Earl Dabney, a negro, to the spot near the County hospital. He summoned police who rescued him.

They found him face upward, spread-eagled on the crude cross. A ten penny nail was driven through each hand and each foot.

Doctors said he would recover unless the nail holes in his feet and hands became infected.

Police Captain B. R. Addenbrooke said Collins, also known as Chester Howard, came here Thursday after being released Aug. 3 from San Quentin prison in California where he served six years, three months and ten days for the San Diego robbery.

SECRETARY WALLACE PROPOSES PROGRAM DESIGNED TO ASSURE FARMING CLASS FAIR INCOME

ST. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Quebec, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace of the United States department of agriculture proposed today that farm officials of all nations meet to formulate a set of principles designed to assure farming classes a "fair" share of the world's income.

Such principles, he said, should eliminate barriers to inter-national trade and should assure each agricultural exporting nation is proper share of the world markets.

Mr. Wallace spoke before an international conference of agricultural economists at MacDonald College.

"I am convinced," he said, "that all nations could agree on the desirability of systems of agriculture which will maintain soil fertility and which will tend to give the farm section of the population a fair share of the national income."

The secretary, urging abandonment of trade barriers, said: "In the realities of 1938 we find numerous countries pursuing their programs of price-fixing and export subsidy with little regard to the fact that when carried to an extreme they have been mutually self-defeating.

"Such programs, when carried out by a number of countries at the same time, bring about an excessive increase in the supply of products on the international market and waste human effort which had best be devoted to producing something else."

Describing export subsidies as a "type of economic warfare," Wallace declared they would do more harm than good to the nation using them if used on a large scale and for a long period of time.

SECRETARY HULL CALLS ATTENTION FAMED PEACE PACT

UNITED STATES SECRETARY OF STATE DECRIES TENDENCY BREAK PACT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Hull called attention today to the tenth anniversary of the Kellogg-Briand pact with a reminder to the signatory nations of their "solemn pledges" to outlaw war.

Naming the nations which signed the 1928 agreement, including Germany, Italy and Japan, Hull said in a statement:

"It is the great tragedy of today that althoough modern experience has demonstrated that not even a victor can gain from war, nevertheless in certain parts of the world strife and conflict are bringing untold misery to millions, and in other parts the idea of warfare is being actually glorified.

"Governments and people's cannot be unmindful of their obligations and responsibilities, for on the observance or non-observance of the solemn pledges made ten years ago depends the preservation of all that is valuable and worthwhile in the life of each and every nation."

The nine nations whose representatives signed the pact on Aug. 27, 1928, the secretary recalled, declared they were "deeply sensible of their solemn duty to promote the welfare of mankind."

YOUNG GIRL SLAYS FATHER SHE CLAIMED GUILTY OF INCEST

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 27.—(AP)—District Attorney James C. Bane told today how a 12-year-old girl's mumbling in her sleep disclosed incestuous relations with her foreign-born father whom she later killed.

He said the girl, Irene Giricz, only daughter of Steve Giricz, 53, accused her father of mistreating her and abusing her mother. An information filed by county detectives charged the girl with murder.

Bane said the child accused her father of having illicit relations with her when she was nine years old and added that she had confessed planning the shooting for a month but was "just waiting for a chance."

Giricz, a native of Hungary and a WPA worker, lived with his family in an old farmhouse in a nearby mining village in southwestern Pennsylvania. It was there that he was shot in the back of the head last Thursday as he ate breakfast.

Bane said the child declared she had kept secret the alleged three-year-old mistreatment by her father until it became known to the mother when Irene talked of it in her sleep.

Demand Union with Germany.

Sudeten extremists were adamant in a demand for outright union with Germany.

They had from what they regarded as their Fatherland a message of cheer delivered in a speech at Stuttgart Sunday by Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy in Nazi party affairs, who said:

"The German people look on German comrades in Czechoslovakia with deepest sympathy because of their sufferings. You know in Sudetenland that we are standing by you with warm hearts."

Germany will have 1,000,000 men under arms next week in gigantic autumn maneuvers for which current army war games have been a prelude. For the first time since the world war, reserve units will join in the maneuvers.

Most of Britain's home army was ordered into war games in a half-dozen sectors, to test new techniques with mechanized equipment.

The British fleet, on Sept. 6, is scheduled to turn to maneuvers in the North Sea, where the fleet took decisive action in the World war.

France on Tuesday sends 20,000 troops to Bensancon, near the German and Swiss borders, for four days of war games.

The Fuehrer was expected to inspect the newly-created fortifications zone rom Aachen, near the German-Belgian rontier, south to the vicinity o Basel, Switzerland.

Hitler Appears at Border.

STRASBOURG, France, Aug. 29—(AP)—A surprise visit by Chancellor Adolf Hitler to the French-German border, at a moment when French troops were about to begin maneuvers and Germans were working on fortifications, today rought the tense international situation into new prominence.

Hitler suddenly appeared at Kehl, just across the Rhine rontier from Strasourg, at 9 p. m., accompanied by a staff of generals taking inhabitants on his own side of the frontier so much by surprise they failed to have out the usual welcoming flags.

WADSWORTH SAYS DEMOCRATS GAMBLE WITH NATION'S FATE

REPUBLICANS GATHER IN CORNFIELD TO PLAN FOR COMING CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Ind., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Rep. James W. Wadsworth (R-NY) declared the democratic administration forces had plunged the nation into economic depression and are "gambling with the fate of the nation" in the keynote speech today at the republican "cornfield conference" on the Capehart farm near here.

The meeting, held in a 120-acre tent city near this Southern Indiana town of 10,000 population, opened the republican campaign for additional congressional seats in the November election.

Thousands of party workers were present, including republican national officials, leaders from the Midwest and Indiana adherents from precinct committeeman up. Party leaders urged election of new republican congressman this fall to set the stage for a strong presidential campaign in 1940.

Rep. Wadsworth, 61-year old upstate New York gentleman farmer, said President Roosevelt "more than any other person or group of persons" was responsible for what he termed the "second or Roosevelt depression."

He said the country was on the road to recovery when, in February, 1937, the president sent congress a message "urging the passage of legislation which would enable him to pack the supreme court."

"Instantly the whole picture changed," he said. "The shock was too great to be endured by a people beginning to recover their breath. From that very moment prices began to fall."

He said the president was attempting to "subdue the congress and the courts to the executive will." He called on his party to stop him.

"The administration is gambling," he went on. "The fate of the nation is the stake. The gambler lost on his first throw of the dice and the nation will lose on the second throw—if we do not return to sanity and that mighty soon."

Homer E. Capehart of Buffalo, N. Y., Hoosier-born vice president of the Wurlitzer company was the host. The rally was held on his 400-acre farm. Indiana leaders estimated the New York phonograph manufacturer would spend $25,000 on the affair in his avowed effort to "kill the new deal."

The house of commons member spoke at an open air meeting of his constituents in Essex.

The elder statesman who frequently has been a bitter critic of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain thus supported Sir John Simon's warning today to the reich, delivered only shortly before in Scotland.
